Draft Evasion Charges of Army Prove Unfounded, At 3 Minute Hearing

REGISTER'S APPEAL WINS QUICK ACTION

Case Comes Up For Trial After Rep. Swing Is Told of Situation

Completely exonerated of charges of desertion, Harry Thorsos, 35, former joint owner of the Sanitary dairy in this city, today had returned to his home here following fifty-four days imprisonment at Fort Mc Arthur.

Military authorities, according to Attorney Otto Sanaker, declared that "every statement made by Thorsos, was borne out by the facts in the case presented before a military court martial. The court, after three minutes deliberation, ordered the immediate release of Thorsos from the federal prison near San Pedro."

Thorsos, who is married and bears an excellent reputation in Orange county, today gave the following account of his unpleasant experience with the American government officers:

Sought to Enlist.

"At the time men were being enlisted for service in the world war, I was living in Alaska. I am a native of Norway. At that time I was about 30 years old. "With other men living in that section, I registered for service in Ruby, Alaska, April 14, 1918. I told the board officers I wanted to fight for the United States, despite the fact that I was not a naturalized citizen of this country. Several months passed.

"Desiring to get into service if possible, I decided to go to Seattle. I so informed my draft board in Ruby. I left Ruby June 19, 1918, telling my board where I was going.

"In Seattle, I tried to enlist in the marines, but was told they were no longer taking men in that division. I called at the Seattle board headquarters, told them where I was from, and asked them how to proceed.

No Notification

"I was told by a member of the Seattle board that I should call at the cable office and keep in touch with my Alaskan draft board. I did so. After day I called, asking if they had any notice for me. There was none.

"I worked for one of the largest dairy corporations in Seattle. My employers knew I was likely to be called for service. My companions knew it. I presented full and honest affidavits from my fellow workers showing I called at the cable office, looking for my orders. So far as I knew, they never came. But the government claims I was notified. I received no notice of any kind.

"Later, in February, 1922, I left Seattle and came to Southern California. In Santa Ana I entered the dairy business. I had married and wanted to become a citizen of this country. I went to Los Angeles to take out my first papers. I was told to report to Fort McArthur.

Ordered Released

"Imagine my surprise, to learn, there, that I was booked as a deserter from the United States army. I was told I was under arrest. I employed Attorney Sanaker, who sought to bring about my release on habeas corpus proceedings.

Forbes Quits Sick Bed to Open Fight On Accuser In Washington

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former director of the Veterans' Bureau under fire as a result of the senate investigation of his administration, arrived here today to confer with his counsel.

Forbes denounced the preliminary report of counsel for the committee, Major General John F. O'Ryan which charged

SHERIFF DIES IN FIGHT ON FLORIDA EVERGLADES GANG

(By United Press Leased Wire)
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 9.—Sheriff Freder Baker and one outlaw are known to be dead as a result of a pitched battle between a posse and a gang of bandits in progress near Fruita, according to word received this afternoon.

The dead bandit was believed to be Joe Ashley, a noted desperado, who with other outlaws had made their rendezvous in the Everglades near Fruita.

A posse of 100 heavily armed men were dispatched immediately to the swamp land in an effort to dislodge the gunmen.

Machine guns will be brought up later if necessary, it was announced here.

The sheriff's office has denied reports that Sheriff Baker and the outlaw had been killed in the fighting which has been in progress four hours.

Four desperadoes were in the entrenchment when they were attacked by the sheriff's posse. One was thought to be Hanford Mobley, bank robber. John Ashley, father of the dead bandit, and leader of the outlaw band infesting the swamps and a man named Mathews, have been holding out since the battle began.

The outlaws are firmly entrenched in their rendezvous and the belief here was that machine guns and other heavy fighting equipment would be necessary to dislodge them.

COURT HOLDS GAS DEATH IS LEGAL

Three Prisoners In Nevada Prison Must Pay Extreme Penalty

(By United Press Leased Wire)
CARSON CITY, Nev., Jan. 9.—February 8 today was set as the date for the first lethal gas execution in American history. Warden W. H. Dickerson of the state penitentiary said today he would call on the University of Nevada to advise him as to the best form of gas to be used in the death chamber.

Three prisoners in the Nevada state penitentiary today awaited death by asphyxiation, the legal sentence imposed upon them for murder.

Their last hope of escaping execution of the sentence first pronounced two years ago faded when, late yesterday, the state supreme court held that death by lethal gas is not a "cruel and unusual punishment" forbidden by the constitution.

The men sentenced to be the first to die under Nevada's "lethal gas" law are Hughie Sing and Gee Jon. San Francisco Chinese convicted of murdering one of their countrymen, Ming Nev, more than three years ago, and Thomas Russell, convicted at Elko, Nev., for the murder of Mamie Johnson, an Indian girl.

Wealthy Chinese of the Pacific coast financed a fight in behalf of Hughie Sing and Gee Jon in which the law was given every legal test lawyers and brains could conceive. The state courts held it constitutional at each stage.

As a result of the latest decision the courts are instructed again to set a time for the execution of the death sentence. Law and custom in Nevada has made it practically certain that the three will be executed at the same time—some time within the next 90 days.

The sentences probably will direct execution during a certain week. When that week arrives the three prisoners will be placed in a lethal chamber and at some time unknown to them and probably while they sleep, a valve will be turned which will flood the death house with poison gas—and the prisoners will never awaken.

WOMAN MISSES SENTENCE, BUT COX JAILS 3

A woman motorist warded off a jail sentence temporarily, if not permanently, by pleading not guilty and demanding trial, an example followed by one man motorist, but three other male speeders bowed to the inevitable today and accepted five-day terms in the county jail from Justice J. B. Cox.

Mrs. C. W. Downs, 816 South Bonnie Brae street, Los Angeles, was charged with driving her car at a rate of forty-five miles per hour. She pleaded guilty, apparently expecting to pay a fine.

Horried by the stern words of the court, who gave her the usual five-day sentence, Mrs. Downs hastily changed her plea and asked for trial, which was set down for January 30, at 10 a. m. Mrs. Downs was released under $25 bail.

A. C. Pryper of San Diego pleaded not guilty to driving forty-five miles per hour. His trial was set for February 4 at 2 p. m.

Dewey Porter, of Huntington Beach, admitted traveling at a 62-mile gait, and Albert Platt of Bell pleaded guilty to fifty miles per hour. These two and O. Cayous of Delhi, who also admitted speeding, were sentenced to jail.

Several other motorists were scheduled to appear in court today on speeding charges, among them being Mrs. R. Y. Robertson, 204 Fourteenth street, Huntington Beach.

Owner and Veterans' Bureau Fails to Agree On Price for San Fernando Land.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Condemnation proceedings have been instituted by the government to obtain a site for a veterans' bureau tuberculosis hospital at San Fernando, Cal., owned by Walter Craig, it was learned at the veterans' bureau today.

Unable to reach compromise between the $100,000 asked by Craig for his 528 acre tract and the $80,000 offered by the bureau, General Hines has asked Attorney General Daugherty to seek condemnation of the land.

FRENCH COAST IS SWEEPED BY TIDAL WAVE

(By United Press Leased Wire)
PARIS, Jan. 9.—A tempest accompanied by a strong tidal wave struck the entire French coast between 4 and 5 a. m. today causing heavy loss to vessels both at anchor and under way.

At Brest many ships were damaged. At Biarritz, one of the most fashionable and frequented watering places in France, the Casino and numerous boats suffered. Many ships were tied up in the harbor at Bordeaux, several large liners being unable to enter the port because of the high wind.

Bayonne reported several boats were carried over the breakwater by the tidal wave. The whole sea front is inundated.

At Sables d'Olonne the waves wrenched a number of ships from their anchorage and debris of many shattered vessels is scattered along the coast.

A wireless message received here the British steamer City of Durham stated the vessel was completely disabled.

The message said the ship was off the coast of Spain in the Atlantic.

The tidal wave inundated the sea front, postoffice and a number of shops at the watering town of Lorient. The boiling waters overwhelmed a steamer of the Bordeaux Ocean company, which was in port.

Several fishing boats also were sunk.

Royan is at the mouth of the Gironde, 20 miles southwest of Sables.

Nazaire reports said the waves tore the stone parapets off the sea wall and hurled them upon the seafront boulevard 200 yards away.

Boats were thrown from the sea to land and living quarters and other structures were inundated. The L'Orient, naval station wireless picked up distress calls from the steamers Colindale and Tasmania.

The Colindale gave her position as 230 miles southwest of L'Orient (a protected port on an estuary emptying into the bay of Biscay) and the Tasmania gave her location as 180 miles west of L'Orient.

SOLON HINTS SCANDAL IN HUGE SALE

Purchase of Vessels By Pacific Coast Firm Facing Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Investigation of the sale of seven shipping board liners to the Dollar lines will be demanded by Senator Fletcher, Florida, ranking Democrat on the commerce committee.

Fletcher will ask that the prices paid for the seven "President" ships be disclosed. He also will ask information on the sale of the steamer "City of Los Angeles," to the Los Angeles Steamship company.

Fletcher has been informed this vessel brought only $100,000, though more than $2,000,000 was spent by the shipping board in conditioning her.

The seven "President" liners cost more than $38,000,000. The shipping board refused to give out terms of the sale to the Dollar lines on the ground that this information would be valuable to foreign competitors.

Fletcher has obtained a copy of what purports to be the contract for the sale of the "President" liners. According to this document, the Dollar interests got the seven vessels for $3,000,000.

WOMAN HELD IN LIQUOR CASE IS FREED

Although "playing a lone hand" in her fight against a charge of having liquor in her possession, her husband having eluded capture and disappeared at the time the couple were arrested, Mrs. Anna St. Clair, of Anaheim Landing, was today at liberty, having won dismissal of the charge against her.

Mrs. St. Clair faced trial late yesterday before Justice J. B. Cox, who, after hearing the testimony, ruled that the woman was not guilty. Evidence was lacking, the court held, to show that liquor captured at the time of her arrest by deputy sheriffs either was on the St. Clair premises or was there with the knowledge of the defendant.

The liquor, according to under Sheriff E. E. French, was found in a shed near the St. Clair dwelling. Mrs. St. Clair denied that the shed was on the same premises and also professed to have no knowledge concerning it.

Federal Operatives Avert Huge Shipment of American Arms to Huerta Army.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Federal agents have broken up a conspiracy to evade President Coolidge's embargo on private sale of arms to the De la Huerta revolutionists in Mexico, it was learned today.

The plan was financed by New York interests and the arms were to be shipped from New Orleans or Galveston, according to federal agents, arms and ammunition worth $500,000, including machine guns and rifles, had been purchased by a gun running syndicate before the embargo was placed, but after Secretary Hughes made it known that this government was opposed to the sale of arms to De la Huerta.

GUARDSMEN ON DUTY IN RUM RIOT ZONE

(By United Press Leased Wire)
MARION, Ill., Jan. 9.—Three companies of national guardsmen today kept guard over Williamson county, scene of the "Herrin massacre" to prevent a possible outbreak of fighting between moonshiners, dry agents and the Ku Klux Klan and an anti-Klan organization, "The Knights of the Flaming Circle."

The guardsmen arrived last night on orders of Governor Small and Adjutant General Carlos Black. General Black, who arrived early today after an all-night journey from Springfield, was deciding what steps to take to quiet the tense situation which came to a climax yesterday when Sheriff George Galligan, from a sickbed, penned a telegram to Gov. Small, declaring the situation had approached the riot stage and was out of his control.

The guardsmen from surrounding towns of Mount Vernon, Salem and Cairo, under the command of Major W. P. Cronney, arrived silently, with fixed bayonets, marched through the streets past hundreds of men and women just as silently and unrolled their beds in the big court room on the second floor.

The Salem company was sent at once to Herrin, close to the Lester Strip mine, where twenty-five men were killed in the battle between guards and striking miners in June, 1922. A large platoon of foreigners there has caused the forces attempting to enforce prohibition to center attention on this mining town, known as the hot bed of any trouble that may start in the coal mining district.

Two Officials Threatened As Highwaymen Force Them to Open Safe

SHERIFF DEPUTIES IN COUNTY-WIDE SEARCH

Robbers Flee In Car, With Curtains Drawn, Toward S. A.; Wear No Masks

Covering two bank officials with pistols and forcing them to open the safe, two bandits at 12:50 p. m. today procured between $3000 and $3500, at the First National bank of Tustin and escaped.

In the bank at the time were C. A. Vance, cashier, and W. S. Lineberger, assistant cashier. A customer, whose name was not learned, entered the bank just as the bandits were covering the bank officials. He, too, was forced to "line up" under threat of death while the safe was opened and looted.

One of the bandits was described as about 22 years old, the other aged about 30.

Neither of the hold-up men were masked.

A few minutes after the two bandits fled from the bank an automobile laden with heavily armed deputies from the sheriff's office here was on its way to Tustin.

Mrs. Vance, wife of the cashier, from her residence three blocks distant from the bank saw the bandit auto speeding toward Santa Ana. The car was a Dodge of the touring type, with its curtains drawn. There appeared to be two men in the front seat and one in the rear, according to Mrs. Vance.

Cashier Vance was the official who was compelled to open the safe, while one of the bandits covered Lineberger and the stranger who entered the bank almost immediately after the hold-up men.

The bandit who rifled the safe overlooked $1000 in currency contained in it. The bandits spared all checks. Between $3000 and $3500 was removed from the safe.

Lineberger's attention was first attracted to one of the bandits, who, as he entered, covered one of his hands with a gunny sack. Lineberger caught a glimpse of a pistol protruding from underneath the sack.

Both men were roughly dressed. Neither Vance nor Lineberger had seen either of the bandits in Tustin before.

The engine of the bandits' car was left running while the bandits were inside rifling the safe.

Mrs. Vance told deputies that the bandits turned north from West Main street, Tustin, several blocks west of the bank.

The loss was fully covered by insurance.

The bank does not make a practice of keeping much actual cash on hand, according to Cashier Vance. Otherwise, he said, the

MUSCLE SHOALS BID IS GIVEN GOVERNMENT

(By United Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The Alabama Power company and Associated Southern Power company today submitted a bid for the Muscle Shoals project to the federal power commission.

The bid offered to lease the shoals for fifty years at a figure estimated to give the government about $100,000,000.

Secretary of War Weeks, a member of the power commission, said he understood the offer of the Alabama Power company was preliminary to a much broader proposal which will be sent him later.

The latter offer may include proposals to purchase some or all of the government's properties at Muscle Shoals, Weeks said.

4 BANDITS MAKE $2000 HAUL AT MAYWOOD BANK

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Four daring bandits at 12:45 o'clock today locked up three bank employees and eight customers, two of whom were women, in the steel vault of the first national bank of Maywood, near here, and escaped with about $2,000 in currency, gold and silver.

Chalmers B. Myers, secretary and assistant cashier of the bank, released the eleven prisoners when he returned from lunch, a few minutes after the holdup. His brother, George W. Myers, president of the bank, was one of the number ordered into the vault by the bandits.

"Had all of us been in the bank when the crooks entered, it would have probably been the end of us all," President Myers said.

"My brother is the only other person, besides those of us who were prisoners in the vault, who knows its combination. The safe is not ventilated, and the air would undoubtedly have been exhausted within two or three hours."

"All the robbers appeared to be middle aged," Myers said. "All had revolvers but they didn't wear masks. It all happened very quickly. One covered me with his revolver, another E. A. Moore, the cashier, and another Mrs. Myrtle Blackie, the bookkeeper."

"Then they made all of us, including the eight customers, march into the vault. The day lock was on, and they smashed that so they could lock us up."

"When my brother came back from lunch, the bank was deserted and the vault locked. He heard us shouting and opened the safe door, releasing us."

6 JAILED IN BIG S. F. LIQUOR RAID

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—Six men were arrested, including a "hippocket bootlegger," in one of the largest prohibition raids in the history of the east bay when Marshal J. F. Peralta of San Leandro and a posse conducted a cleanup of an Leandro soft drink resorts.

Peralta stated that more than 200 gallons of wine and moonshine were confiscated in the raids.

All the men were charged with violation of the national prohibition act. The "hippocket bootlegger" was captured after the raids on the soft drink places had taken place. The officers noticed the man acting suspiciously and when accosted he is said to have turned as if to run. A search of his person revealed everything that goes with an old-time barroom in miniature form, it was said.

For several months, the police have suspected that the many boys and girls seen or arrested for being intoxicated in that neighborhood were being supplied by some uncle of Mrs. Bush, a crippled clock mender named Robert Gardner, was arrested, convicted and fined $125 for selling liquor. Since that time a close watch has been kept of the neighborhood.

Arrested on Complaint

Mrs. Bush was arrested by Policeman O. E. Rhodes, on complaint of H. S. Warren, a taxi cab driver, at Fifteenth and Clay streets, who said that Mrs. Bush was intoxicated, and when he refused to let her enter the taxi had tried to pull the door off and otherwise damage the machine. Mrs. Bush was taken to the Oakland jail and treated for drunkenness. When she recovered she told of having been invited by Hayden, who was a lodger in the same house, to have a drink. She said she took one and did not remember anything that happened afterward.

Mrs. Bush also said that she had noticed for some time that boys and girls went to Hayden's room and remained for some time, and that many of them came out in a drunken condition.

Police Inspector Thomas Wood arrested Hayden at his room and found a suitcase full of liquor.

The court deliberated only three minutes. Then I was ordered released at once. I was informed by an officer at Fort McArthur that every statement I had made was completely born out by the facts in the case.

"I harbor no ill feeling. I wanted to serve this country, and I did everything in my power to do so. My friends will know I was unjustly accused."

OAKLANDER IS ARRESTED IN RUM CASE

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—As the result of the story told by Mrs. Mazara Bush, 616 Twelfth street, Oakland, following her arrest on a charge of being intoxicated, the Oakland police arrested Robert Hayden of the same address. He is being held without bail for investigation of charges that he may be responsible for the large supplies of liquor reaching boys and girls of high school age.

To Face Dry Charge

That Hayden will be charged with "bootlegging" is certain, as a suit case full of liquor of all kinds from gin to cocktails was found in his room. If the investigation under way shows that the prisoner has supplied liquor to boys and girls under age he will be charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors.

For several months, the police have suspected that the many boys and girls seen or arrested for being intoxicated in that neighborhood were being supplied by some uncle of Mrs. Bush, a crippled clock mender named Robert Gardner, was arrested, convicted and fined $125 for selling liquor. MAYOR 'FRED' DETHRONED IN CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, Jan. 8.—This month will witness the passing from office of Mayor Fred Kohler, who for two years has been a unique figure among the executives of the larger American cities. Now Cleveland will inaugurate the city manager form of government.

"I'm Fred Kohler! I'm going to be your next mayor. What do you want me to do after I take office?" These remarks greeted housewives who answered their doorbells during the few months prior to January 1, 1923. It was something new in campaigning. No other candidate had ever done that. The housewives, although surprised at the methods, welcomed the man who announced, "I'm Fred Kohler" and listened while he told them how he was going to be elected mayor of Cleveland, then went to the polls and voted for him.

Painted City Yellow.

And Fred Kohler kept his promise, so far as his election was concerned, for he defeated a field of six candidates and rode into office on a wave of popularity that has been unequalled in the city's history of elections.

Dignified citizens awoke one morning to find their city had been painted—painted a bright yellow.

Delegations called on Mayor Kohler and asked for an explanation. The mayor explained that the painting was badly needed. "But why paint it yellow?" inquired the enraged citizens. "Well, yellow is a swell color," he replied. That was the beginning of the fight on Kohler, better known as "I, Fred," because of the manner in which he has his name painted on all signs.

"So long as you keep my name in the papers, it will suit me fine," Kohler told reporters, "and it don't matter whether you write good things or bad."

Down in the public square there are three sign boards. One of them, left by the old administration, was painted green and was badly faded by rain. Adjoining this sign, "I, Fred," erected one of his own which bore this question, "Which color do you thing looks best?"

Kohler caused to be erected at various entrances to the city house signs, all painted "yella," which announced to the world: "Welcome to Cleveland, I, Fred Kohler, Mayor." The "I" was much larger than the other letters.

At other places separating Cleveland from its suburbs he placed these signs: "This is where Cleveland begins, note the difference. I, Fred Kohler, Mayor."

All sign boards in the city were painted "yella." The fences at the zoo, the benches in the park, the city's wagons, and even the backs of the turtles in the zoo bore the favorite color of "I, Fred." A ed together, they spelled S-E-R-V-each turtle. If they were all placed "yella" letter adorned the back of I-C-E.

When the battle became hotter, "I, Fred" placed yellow signs about the city which read: "Right or wrong, I, alone, have been your mayor."

Wife Helps Elect Hubby
"After having been in bed half the time for a year with severe pains in my right side over the appendix, stomach trouble and bloating, which the doctors seemed unable to reach with medicine, and advised operation as the only remedy, my nurse advised me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and its results have truly been wonderful as I am now entirely well and strong, and at the same time worked hard to elect my husband." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—Adv.

BLAST OF FIRE MOULD CAUSES EXCITEMENT

Creating intense excitement in the downtown district, but doing comparatively little damage, a fire mould in the shop of Jess Goodman, Second and Main streets, exploded with a terrific roar shortly before 1 p. m., today. Although several employees were near the mould, none was injured. The extent of the property damage had not been determined at a late hour this afternoon.

Slide walls, office fixtures and a section of the vulcanizing department were partially wrecked by the explosion. Hundreds of persons in the business section, started by the shock, rushed to the scene in the belief that those in the vicinity had been injured in the explosion. The cause of the explosion was a mystery, employees said, as there was no exceptionally heavy pressure on the fire mould at the time.

Detectives and motorcycle officers, answering emergency calls to the service station, had difficulty in diverting traffic, following congestion at the intersection of Second and Main streets.

482 'FLUNK' IN CALIFORNIA EXAMS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—Approximately 482 undergraduates of the University of California will not return to the Berkeley campus with the beginning of the spring semester, having failed to pass the required ten units of work demanded by President W. W. Crocker, according to a review of instructors' reports.

"Flunk" reports are now being sent out by the recorder's office, warning those students who failed to pass in the recent examinations that their presence is not wanted on the campus January 14, registration day.

Flunks Fewer Than in '22
The number of disqualified students this semester compares with the figure 535 in December of 1922. However, there were a total of 8451 undergraduates registered in the semester ending December, 1922, as compared with a total of 8120 undergraduates enrolled in the semester just ended. The current university year has been marked with a gain of 200 or 17.1 per cent, in the number of graduate students and a decrease of 231, or 4.7 per cent, in the number of undergraduates, according to reports, and the disqualification rule applies automatically only to undergraduate students.

Reports to Be Revised
The disqualified list first prepared upon the posting of the instructors' reports is subject to correction upon the receipt of revised reports and to the action of the committee of disqualified students, which has authority to suspend the operation of the "flunk" rule in cases of unusual hardship.

In December, 1922, the revision of the initial list led to the final exclusion of 463 undergraduates, being 5.1 per cent of the total undergraduate enrollment. It is believed at the university that the percentage of undergraduates to be finally excluded by the operation of the disqualification rules at this time will differ essentially from the percentage for last year.

Following out the usual custom the administrative officials of the University of California refused to divulge the names of the disqualified students dropped from the student roll.

The Wilson girl was thrown through the windshield of the coupe and her throat was badly cut. Her brother suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries. He was taken to the Mason hospital here and is not expected to live.

California Trains In Tourist Deluge

With three sections of the California Limited running out of Chicago for Los Angeles every day in January, and the other five transcontinental trains of the company carrying their full quota daily, the Santa Fe reports the tourist season the biggest for the time of year on record, according to F. T. Smith, local Santa Fe agent.

James B. Duffy, general passenger agent, says the heavy travel undoubtedly would keep up the balance of the winter and continue through the summer season. Every day during 1923 the California Limited was operated both ways in two sections, he said, and the business with the new year necessitates a third section of this train, according to Smith.

ASK PROBATION AS CHECK MAN CHANGES PLEA

Changing his plea from not guilty to guilty, R. G. Graves, former Huntington Beach publisher today forestalled his trial on a charge of passing worthless checks, and asked Superior Judge F. C. Drumm for probation.

Hearing on his application was set for January 25 at 9:30 a. m. after Judge Drumm had expressed disapproval of Graves' action in waiting until preparations for his trial as felt that the case should change his plea. The time of the court and the prosecuting attorney had not only been wasted, but, with the jury assembled and a prisoner brought from San Quentin to testify at the trial, the county was needlessly put to an expense of nearly $500, it was pointed out.

Counsel for Graves replied that it wasteful that the case should have gone to trial but that Graves had been unable to obtain evidence necessary to support his own claim of innocence and was finally forced to give up his defense, for lack of time and money to prepare it.

Penton, Chaplin, former partner of Graves and his co-defendant in the check charge, will remain at the county jail until after Graves' hearing on probation, instead of being returned at once to San Quentin from where he was brought to testify at the trial. His testimony, the district attorney's office intimated, will be used to block Graves' effort to obtain probation.

Wait Death Probe For Word of Son

Preparations for the funeral of Joseph Everett, who died suddenly at the county hospital, were marking time today while Coroner Charles D. Brown awaited word from relatives of the dead man.

Coroner Brown had not yet decided whether an inquest will be necessary. An investigation will show, Brown believed, that death resulted from heart trouble.

No Loss of Life In Year on Road

The Santa Fe was one of three big railroad systems of the United States to emerge from the year 1923 without the loss of a single passenger riding on any of its trains, F. T. Smith, local agent for the railroad, said today. Furthermore, the Santa Fe has operated for the past year and a half during which time it has carried 10,000,000 passengers and not one has been killed. The average distance ridden by the 10,000,000 passengers was 152 miles.

School's Opening Date Not Fixed

The definite date for the opening of the new Julia C. Lathrop junior high school at South Main and Fairview streets was not set at the meeting of the Santa Ana board of education yesterday.

F. L. Andrews, secretary of the board, said that delay in completing the building made it impossible to definitely say when the school would be ready for occupancy. He indicated that a tentative opening date had been set for January 21.

Aside from a discussion of the possible opening of the new junior high school little business was transacted by the board. The resignations of two teachers, Mrs. Gertrude E. Isbell of the Artesia street school and Miss Wanda McMurry, English teacher at the Julia C. Lathrop junior high school were accepted.

Passenger Burned When Autos Crash

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—Joseph Soto of 3848 Folsom street was severely burned about the head and body when two automobiles were consumed in flames following a collision between them on Mission road near the viaduct. He was treated at St. Luke's hospital. The accident happened when an automobile driven by Walter F. Cream, employed by the Acme Ice Cream company, crashed into the rear end of a machine driven by L. A. Matson, a petty naval officer. The gasoline tank of Matson's car was ripped open by the impact and the flowing oil was ignited by the exhaust. Soto was riding with Matson.

RIGHTS UNDER MECHANICS LIEN LAW TOLD DEALERS

Ninety building material men, contractors and other men prominent in the building industry in Orange county, Long Beach and Los Angeles today had a clearer conception of provisions of the mechanics lien law, following a clear-cut presentation of some of its more important provisions by C. F. Hoff of San Diego, attorney and secretary of the Building Material Dealers association.

The address was delivered at the first annual meeting of the Orange county division of the Southern California Builders exchange, held at St. Ann's Inn last night. Introduction of officers of the branch was one of the important features of the evening.

Responsibility Stressed

Hoff laid particular stress on the importance of private owners giving building contracts to responsible contractors. The lien law protected material men and laborers from loss, under certain conditions, on private work, Hoff declared, but he emphasized the fact that in the matter of public building, construction, losses by failure of a contractor to pay for material or labor could not be recovered from a municipality or public body, except as a bond may offer a source for recovery of losses.

Bringing out the feature of protection of an owner under the lien law, Hoff said that if the owner of property entering into a contract for construction work files with the county recorder, in advance of starting of work, the contract and a bond for 50 per cent of the contract price, losses could not be recovered from the owner. The speaker recommended this course for all private owners engaging in building operations.

Completion Notice

Importance of a private builder filing notice of completion of a contract was emphasized. The right to file a lien for material or labor expires thirty days after the notice of completion is filed, if it is filed within ten days after actual completion; and ninety days after completion, if no notice is filed.

Deep interest was manifested in the matter of the right to file a lien for material and labor supplied in the construction of a building on leased property. According to the speaker, the property owner is liable for unpaid bills if he does not post on the property, and file with the county clerk, notice of non-responsibility within ten days after he has knowledge that material has been delivered or work is started. With the filing of such notice, labor or material losses cannot be recovered against the owner. The same situation obtains in the point of building on a lot bought on contract, except that losses may be recovered to the extent of the equity of the contract buyer, or labor and material creditors may take over the contract to buy.

Mortgage Lien Priority

The precedence of a lien over a mortgage was fully discussed. It was brought out by Hoff that if a mortgage is filed before material is delivered or work is done, the mortgage is superior. If work is started before the mortgage is filed, the lien takes precedence, but holds this position only for the material supplied by a firm making delivery prior to filing of the mortgage. If, for instance, two material men are supplying the job, and one starts delivering after the filing of the mortgage, the mortgage would take precedence over a lien he might file.

A. N. Morris, field secretary of the builders exchange, in opening the session, recalled organization of the local branch at St. Ann's Inn one year ago, with a membership of approximately thirty. The roster now embraces eighty-two of the most prominent of the contractors and building material men.

Tests Aim Before Death Attempt In Shooting Gallery

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—"I used to be pretty good at that. Let me break a few ducks."

A man, identified by cards in his pocket as J. L. Snively, chief watchman on a ship in dock at Long Beach, stepped up to a local shooting gallery railing last night.

He picked up a .22-caliber automatic pistol and emptied the weapon. Every shot hit the mark.

"Fill it up again," he said. "Another string of hits."

"Yes, the old aim is still pretty good. Load it once more."

With the weapon again ready to fire, Snively turned the muzzle to his head and calmly pulled the trigger. He died early today.

'Battle of Beauty' To Be Aired As 'Powder Puff Revue' Staged

The "battle of beauty," first faint rumblings of which have been heard in New York and Chicago, is being discussed here, it was stated today, in connection with "The Powder Puff Revue," which will be presented at the Temple theater here the nights of January 15 and 16, under the auspices of the inner organization of the American Legion—Orange county volume No. 527, la Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux.

Andre Charlot, producer of English revues, has boasted that the girls of his London revue, which he is about to bring to Chicago, will surpass in pulchritude anything that America has to offer, according to word received here.

Young Women to Vie.

The result has been that every girl in the revues of America is declared to have accepted Charlot's boast in the light of a personal challenge. Likewise, every loyal American at all interested in the matter has taken the attitude that the Britisher's pronouncement is to mere idle chatter.

Executives of the Orange county volume assert that "The Powder Puff Revue" will offer, on the stage of the Temple theater, a number of young women whose beauty would make Charlot's most pulchritudinous peaches turn pale with envy.

"The Powder Puff Revue" is declared to be modeled after the very latest and most popular patterns of beauty, fun and melody entertainments known to Broadway.

Entertainment Ably.

Mel Melvin, who has never before appeared on the local stage, is a blackface comedian who is declared to have a multitude of proclivities for "stopping the show" with his comic sallies.

Running Melvin a close second, but offering an entirely different line of entertainment, is the Bill-bro quartette of colored singers and comedians. This quartette, which is also new to Santa Ana theater-goers, is declared to be assured of an uproarious reception when it makes its appearance in "The Powder Puff Revue."

Irene Jones, the Brown sisters, Hazel De Vere-Jane Howard singing and dancing team; Jackie Shannon, Estelle Prager, Irene McKinney, Antoinette Moreno, and Sadie Halperin and her jazz orchestra, and others, are all asserted to help round out some of the most enjoyable features of the revue.

VAUDEVILLE SKITS ON LEGION PROGRAM

Santa Ana Post No. 131, American Legion, was promised an exceptionally interesting evening when announcement was made today of a vaudeville program planned in connection with the post meeting at Legion hall tomorrow night.

According to Dr. James Farrage, in charge of arrangements, the program will be "long" on headline attractions. A big act from the Golden West theater in San Francisco, a "Ruben" comedy sketch by Cy Jenks, well known Los Angeles comedian, and a Pantages vaudeville act, are among the features, Dr. Farrage said.

The meeting is called for 8 p. m. Afterwards, according to Dr. Farrage, something unusual in the way of a "feed" is planned.

His many friends were today offering their congratulations to Raymond G. Simpson over his appointment, received yesterday, as one of the camera men of the Pickford-Fairbanks studio at Hollywood.

He has taken active interest in theatrical matters, especially in Santa Ana Community Players' productions. He has appeared in different local successes, notably "Potash and Perlmutter" and the more recent "R. U. R." He is a brother of Gladys Simpson Shafer (Mrs. Burr Shafer), who has taken star roles in various community plays.

L. A. Police Head Hits Report That Resignation Near

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Chief of Police August Vollmer today denied emphatically the report that he contemplated resigning his office on January 15—"or any other time."

"That story was started by some hoodlegger or underworld head who would like to see me resign," Vollmer said, "but there is nothing to it. I'm here to stick."

Rumor had it that Vollmer was to be succeeded by Chief of Police Kelly, of Pasadena, who was second in the civil service examination which gave Vollmer the position.

FARM ADVISOR IN WARNING URGES USE OF AUGER

Soil Borings Reveal Startling Condition In Many County Groves

FIND DRY SUB-SOIL

Bud Growth Can Be Improved By Judicious Irrigation Now

"Soil borings made in numerous groves throughout the county since the last rains, reveal a startling condition in the lower soil strata comprising the root zone of our orchard trees," said H. E. Wahlberg, farm advisor, here today.

"Growers who have been depending largely on the winter rains to supply the moisture for their trees, particularly walnut growers, will do well to investigate the actual moisture condition now with shovel or soil auger.

"The agricultural extension service has made a special examination of moisture conditions since the last rain, and has found dry sub-soil in a surprisingly large percentage of the groves.

Require Soil Water. "Walnut trees require an optimum amount of soil water even during the apparent dormant season. The fine feeder roots are beginning to demand plant food, which is only available through soil solution supplied by a sufficient amount of moisture.

"Root activity in the soil precedes bud and leaf activity in the upper part of tree by several weeks. It is for this reason largely, that we should meet the demands of the root systems at this time.

"Investigations have shown that groves receiving proper irrigation during the dormant season generally insure better crops than groves neglected for soil moisture. Bud growth becomes more vigorous and healthy and this results in a better setting of fruit for the season.

Condition Poorer. "A survey of the crop condition of walnuts in Orange county this year by the agricultural extension service revealed poorer production where winter irrigation had been overlooked last season.

"A word might also be said about depth of penetration. No irrigation is complete in walnuts unless the moisture gets down throughout the depth of the root zone. This depth will average 7-8 feet. In deep loamy soils it may go down 10-12 feet. In light soil of a shallow character underlain with gravel and 4-5 feet is sufficient.

"It is waste to let the moisture go below the depth of the root zone, and poor irrigation if the entire root zone is not wet. Only by use of the soil auger can this be determined satisfactorily.

TWO BILLIONS IN BUSINESS BY FARMERS

More than two billion dollars of business was done by farmer business organizations in 1923, according to estimates made by the United States department of agriculture. The estimates are based upon reports from 6,639 organizations which did a total business of $1,200,000,000. Reports have been received from 8,313 associations and additional reports are yet to come in from approximately 2,000 organizations.

Of the 8,313 organizations reporting, approximately 90 per cent were primarily engaged in selling farm products, and about 10 per cent in the collective purchasing of farm supplies. Grain marketing organizations comprised more than 30 per cent of the associations; dairy products 22 per cent; livestock 14 per cent, and fruits and vegetables 11 per cent.

Two thousand six hundred grain organizations did a total business estimated at $480,000,000; 1,841 dairy products organizations a business of $300,000,000; 1,182 livestock shipping associations a business of $220,000,000, and 956 fruit and vegetable associations a total business of $280,000,000. Seventy-eight cotton cooperatives did $100,000,000, and 14 tobacco organizations $132,000,000.

FIG AND PEACH GROWERS HOLD ANNUAL MEET

Orchard Fertilization and Other Allied Problems To Be Discussed

MODESTO, Jan. 9.—With a list of subjects covering the most important phases of dried peach culture included in the program for the annual peach and fig institute to be held in Modesto, January 17 and 18 under the auspices of the California Peach and Fig Growers, a special drive to secure the attendance of representative peach growers from every county has been inaugurated by the management of the institute.

Special invitations have been sent to all farm advisors in the peach growing counties, with a request that growers be urged to attend. After each discussion questions will be sought and further discussion indulged in by county representatives.

Discuss Fertilization. A complete discussion of orchard fertilization as pertaining to peach growing will be given by A. A. Jungerman, farm advisor in Stanislaus county. Jungerman's talk will be of particular interest on account of the heavy yields secured in this year's peach contests.

A detailed summary of results in a financial way, as well as in tonnage from careful thinning of peaches will be given by H. R. Keller, Fresno county. Under Keller's directions, thinning experiments were carried on during 1923 with a result that increased returns amounting to as high as $52 per ton were recorded. Keller will outline the methods pursued in securing this marked increase in dried peach returns.

Drying Methods. The fruit products laboratory of the University of California will present to the growers the results of the year's experiments in the drying of peaches and figs and a thorough discussion of methods to apply at the dry yard is contemplated.

The care of peach orchards in the matter of tillage and moisture to secure maximum quality in peaches will be discussed by J. W. Nelson of the University of California. The entire program on peaches will be dedicated to discussions relative to improving fruit quality, it was announced by Chairman H. T. Clark of the institute committee.

PICK SPOTS FOR BENTLEY. National League players insist that Jack Bentley will never be rated as a great left hander. His lack of dazzling speed makes him a pitcher of little use against a team with a majority of right-handed hitters. Bentley is the type pitcher who must have his spots picked for him, and no manager can do that little thing better than Jawn McGraw of the Giants.

Cypress Girl Is Winner Of Farm Bureau Essay Contest

Miss Erma Batis of Cypress, a student at Anaheim union high school, today was announced by Manager A. M. Stanley as winner of first prize in the essay contest conducted by the Orange county farm bureau. Many essays were submitted. Ten were so closely related that it was difficult to determine the winner. Second prize was awarded Mildred Stewart of Anaheim. Charles Padias of Orange won third prize.

The winning essay follows: The farm bureau is an educational organization for the purpose of solving economic and agricultural problems. Co-operation of the farmer and the farm advisor is the mainstay of the federation. Through co-operation the farmer and the rancher receive help and advice on all farm problems.

To do this and do it successfully the organization is divided into commodity departments for the efficient administration of all problems that face the farmers of today. It is an educational institution. Education is always personal. It incorporates into our individual selves for our betterment those forces and facts which have helped others and it also implies the giving out of the best that is in us that others may be benefited.

Family Institution. The farm bureau in all its aspects is a family institution. Through the home demonstration agent the bureau has brought improvement and promoted health in our households. Untold thousands of homes are brighter and more cheerful because of the work of the home demonstration agent. She has lifted the burden of the daily toil from the housewives and made the farm home a more desirable place.

For the younger folks let me point to the million boys and girls doing their work under the direction of the various farm bureaus. In these young people rests the future of the farm bureau movement. They will take up the work where the people of today lay it down and in the light of experience will conduct it far better than their fathers and mothers. This club-work is the greatest educational club in the United States.

Thus, educationally, the farm bureau is priceless to the farmer. Economically the farm bureau is a primary essential in the means of existence of our farmer. Every great industry in our country plans and organizes committees to protect its economic rights. Why should not the farmer organize and protect his economic rights? Not a single thing occurs in the economics of the world but that its influence is felt on every farmer. For the past few years the farmers have been co-operating.

Care of Your Eyes

By DR. ROY S. HORTON

OPTOMETRIST

EYES AND MORALS

One of the chief functions of science nowadays is apparently to link the moral nature of man with his physical equipment. We have been learning of late that to a very great extent criminals are as they are because their brain-pans are defective or out of order. Juvenile delinquencies and criminal tendencies are traced to adenoids. Tubercles can get into the conscience as well as into the lungs. Cretinism is a potent cause of depravity. And now, by way of Director Guy A. Henry of the Eyesight Conservation Council of America, in a paper read recently before the American Prison Association, we learn that bad eyes make bad boys and budding criminals. Impaired eye conditions may start a boy on the downward path. It is a more or less easy transition. Bad eyesight in school leads to inattention and to the imputation of dullness. The child is outstripped by his fellows. He becomes sullen and rebellious. He may be treated by his teacher as lazy or perverse. It is the beginning of a bad name and the resultant break with authority. The moral life effect, at all events, is traceable.

Of course there is always the downward path waiting. Moral instruction is desirable to keep people out of it. Character, resolution, exceptional spiritual gifts, or the good fortune of a commanding parental or other personal influence, will keep the weakest and most unfortunate out of it. Against all the impulses and pitfalls of physical deficiency the right sort of spiritual gifts or saving influences will prevail. But that is no reason why the weak or the unfortunate should be dragged to ruin by an infirmity. A pair of glasses may be a better protection in the case of the picked-on half-blind child than a pood Sunday school teacher. The weak-eyed should have their guardianship, or their treatment. The skillful removal of adenoids may exercise a broad moral influence. Not only the wonders of God, but the healing resources of civilization, may operate in mysterious ways.

You Can't Be OPTIMISTIC with MISTY OPTICS

Device Proves Animals Are Capable of Competing With Big Trucks

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—"My strength is as the strength of ten," would be a comparative boast for a pedigreed draft horse, properly trained and conditioned.

For "Pete" and "Bob," champion draft horses of America by virtue of their survival of tests by the newly invented tractive dynamometer, the phrase would be an understatement of their powers. The result of the tests must be a revision of conceptions of what is a "horsepower," according to Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Horse Association of America.

"These two horses exerted a tractive pull of 2450 pounds continuously for six seconds, moving their load 12 feet," says Secretary Dinsmore.

"Traction pull is the measure of energy expended in pulling a load. In Chicago a load of coal weighing ten tons with the wagon is ordinarily drawn by three horses. It takes a tractive pull of 1800 pounds to start such a wagon; but in less than a second, when the wheels begin turning, the energy required is greatly reduced.

"The champion horses, two of them as compared with three hitched to the coal wagon, exerted a pull half again as great as the loaded wagon, and kept it up without slackening for six painful, straining, fighting seconds."

The horses, owned by the Sheffield Farms, New York, set their record in tests conducted by the horse association in New York. There were similar tests earlier this fall at the Iowa state fair, following invention of the dynamometer by Professor E. V. Collins of Iowa state college.

The machine looks much like a farm wagon. Its wheels may be locked by hydraulic power, not to be released until a certain pull is exerted. Whenever the pull is released, the wheels lock again.

"John Coffee, driver of the winning team, never touched them with a whip, or even cracked it at them," says Dinsmore. "As an accelerator he had three pebbles in a tin can, and when he wanted to stir their best effort he rattled the can. He is one of the best drivers in the country."

DEATH IN EAST CALLS ZAISERS OF SANTA ANA

Dr. Harry Zaiser, superintendent of the county hospital; Adam Zaiser, former assistant cashier of the First National bank, and Fred Zaiser, retired eastern business man, today were making preparations to leave Santa Ana tomorrow for Ft. Madison, Iowa, to be present Tuesday at the funeral of their brother, the Rev. Father A. J. Zaiser. The latter died there suddenly yesterday, as the result of an apoplectic stroke, at the age of 62 years.

Other relatives of the priest residing here are his mother, Mrs. Margaret Zaiser, his sisters, Misses Laura and Esther Zaiser, 223 Orange avenue, and Dr. A. C. Zaiser, who is ill. Another sister, Mrs. Lillian Scharf, resides in Los Angeles. Interment will be made in Sacred Heart cemetery at Burlington.

The Rev. Father Zaiser was known to a large number of Santa Ana, as he visited his relatives here two months last summer. While here he occupied the pulpit of St. Joseph's Catholic church a number of times.

He was in charge of St. Joseph's parish, Ft. Madison, for thirty years and was loved by hosts of residents of that city.

The oldest of a family of nine children, the Rev. Father Zaiser was born at Burlington, Iowa, January 25, 1862.

After completing the public schools there, he entered the Mt. Pleasant Methodist university. From the latter institution he went to the Catholic university at Prairie du Chien, Wis. He also attended St. Ambrose College at Davenport, Iowa, and following his ordination, was a professor in the college for four years.

His first parish was at Exira, Ia., where he served four years and then he was sent to Ft. Madison to take charge of the parish. He had been chaplain of the Iowa state prison for twenty-five years.

DAIRYMEN MUST FILE INCOME TAX REPORT

Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue A. B. Plich of Orange county, today corrected a report, which has gained wide circulation, to the effect that California dairymen are not required to file income tax returns.

Inquiries from many sections of the district have reached Collector Goodsell of Los Angeles, Pasadena seems to be the center of the erroneous interpretation of the income tax law as regards dairymen.

"Collector Goodsell believes," said Plich, "that the report regarding the exemption of dairymen originated in a ruling of the internal revenue bureau, which in effect held that co-operative associations, acting as sales agents for farmers, fruit growers and dairymen, and, less the necessary operating proceeds of the sales of their production back to the producers the expenses, on the basis of the produce furnished them, are exempt from income tax and are not required to file a return.

"This ruling does not exempt the individual dairymen or farmer. Every dairymen who is married and whose net income was $2,000 or more, or if single, $1,000, or more, must file a return on Form 1040. If he engages in farming he must also file Form 1040-F, which is a schedule of farm income and expense.

SUGAR MAKING METHOD TOLD ROTARIANS

Aided by a big chart, J. G. Daley, superintendent of factories for the Holly Sugar corporation, yesterday at St. Ann's Inn explained in detail to the members of the Santa Ana Rotary club, of which he is a member, the methods used in converting sugar beets into sugar.

Daley prefaced his remarks with an outline of the history of sugar-making, tracing it from India, through Persia, to the present date. The first sugar was made from bamboo. The art of making sugar from sugar beets was developed largely in Germany, and beet sugar, taken the world over, now ranks about fifty-fifty with cane sugar in tonnage of production.

Yesterday's meeting of Rotarians was in charge of "the Charles"; that is, in charge of the members of the club whose first name is Charles. Charles D. Brown, public administrator, presided.

BEAN GROWERS ASSOCIATION RETURNS 20 MILLION IN 7 YEARS

Manager's Report Shows 75 Per Cent of Limas Sold

NOTE BIG INCREASES

Growers Praying For Copious Rains For 1924 Bean Harvest

January 1 finds about 75 per cent of the 1923 crop of limas and baby limas sold, and with prospects of sufficiently active demand to clean up remaining stocks at satisfactory prices within a few months, according to R. L. Churchill, manager of the California Bean association.

"As this is a time when most folks review the past a bit, it may not be amiss to review the past 13 or 14 years in the California lima bean industry, during which period the annual field run production has varied from 750,000 to 1,700,000 bags," said Churchill.

"Some interesting comparisons are contained in a letter written to the bean growers association by Berywood Investment company, one of the largest growers of limas, under date of December 28, from which the following are excerpts:

Bigger Returns. "We have been interested in checking over what we received for lima beans during the years prior to the formation of the California Lima Bean Growers association, and we find that the association, during the years 1917 to 1922, inclusive, returned to us practically $3.50 per cwt. more than we received during the years 1910 to 1916.

"We find that for the years 1910 to 1915 inclusive, we received an average of $4.50 per cwt. for our lima beans (30.029 bags). We feel outside the association would figure up the way we have done what he received for limas during the years 1910 to 1915 inclusive, he would find that his net average price would be approximately the same as ours."

$5.10 Per Cwt. "According to the association's figures, it has returned to the locals (net, after storage, insurance, taxes, as well as marketing expenses had been deducted), for the period 1917-1922 inclusive, a price which will average approximately $5.10 per cwt. Some of the increase in price is undoubtedly due to the general rise in price of food products, but the larger part of the increase is due, we feel, to the association.

"Cleaning loss and seed requirements take a considerable portion of each year's production of limas, particularly during recent years of short crop. During the seven years now closing, California Lima Bean Growers association has marketed over 2,400,000 bags of limas, and will have returned net to its grower members nearly twenty million dollars.

"Lima growers are praying for copious winter rains to permit of larger crops the coming season."

TOUGH ON CHAMPIONS. This has been a tough year for champions. One after another has tumbled. In boxing, Kilbane, Herman, Britton, Wilson, Siki and Criqui have dropped their laurels. Sweetser, Sarazen, Glenna Corlett and others, did the same in golf, though Sarazen did succeed in clinging to one of his crowns in football. Princeton, Iowa, Vanderbilt, and West Virginia all did a daisy-dew. Giants and Yankees repeated on the diamond, but the first named went down in the world series games. Tilden, in tennis, Dempsey and Leonard, in the ring, were a few of the individuals to stay above water.

RIXEY BEST SOUTHPAW. Eddie Rouse of the Cincinnati Reds picks Eppa Rixey as the best southpaw in the National League. Rixey is a protégé of a former National League umpire, who developed him when he was coaching the University of Virginia candidates in baseball. Rixey at the time being the star of the club.

YOUR DAUGHTER'S HEALTH

Mothers of Ailing Daughters, Attention

How Two Mothers Helped Their Daughters by Giving them Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Every mother possesses information of vital importance to her young daughter, and the responsibility for the girl's future is largely in her hands.

When a school girl's thoughts become sluggish, when she suffers the consequences of wet feet, pain, headaches, fainting spells, loss of sleep and appetite and is irregular, her mother should have a care for her physical condition and give her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which has proved a reliable aid to nature for just such conditions in so many cases.

First Bottle Helped Her

Richmond, Indiana.—"I am sending this letter to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did my daughter. She was troubled with nervousness so that she was restless at night, and then she could not sleep and she was afraid of everything. She could not work as she was not strong enough, and she had to quit school at 14 because she was ill so much. The doctor said she had a nervous breakdown and her system was all run down. She had pains in her right side and through her back, and the medicine she took did her no good at all. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's advertisement in our paper, telling all that the Vegetable Compound had done for other women so I said, 'We will try it out and see what it does.' She had not taken the first bottle before it began to help her, and we will always say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best medicine she ever took."

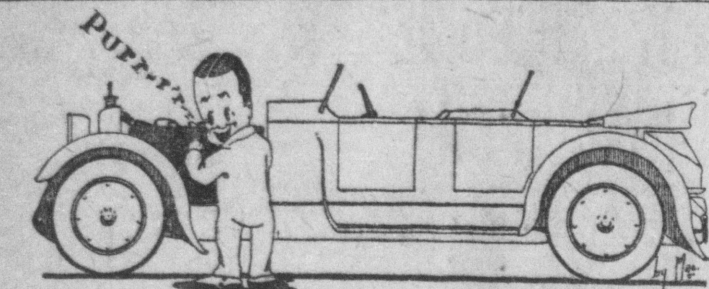

—Mrs. E. DABBY, 911 N. 16th St., Richmond, Indiana.

An Ohio Mother Reports

Columbus, Ohio.—"When my daughter became 14 years of age she was ailing very much. The doctor gave her medicine, but she was very weak, and he always had to write excuses for her as she could not attend the 'gym' classes, and I often had to keep her home from school. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my nerves and run-down condition, so I gave her three doses daily, and also Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine. Our friends are surprised to see how fine and tall she is getting and how well she is. I will gladly answer letters and give you a fine recommendation for other mothers."

—Mrs. MARIE MIELKE, 814 Eber Street, Columbus, Ohio.

Over 100,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?" 98 per cent of these replies answer "Yes." That means that 98 out of every 100 women who have taken this medicine have been helped by it. For sale by druggists everywhere.

QUIBBLING OVER BIBLE DECRIED BY PASTOR

"The mission of the church is not to defend doctrines and quibble over the interpretation of the Bible, but to demonstrate the efficacy of the teachings of Jesus and help men and women to find Christ in their daily lives," according to the Rev. J. A. B. Fry of Long Beach, who delivered the second of a series of Prayer week sermons at the Congregational church here last night.

Greeted by a large audience, the Rev. Mr. Fry, who spent a number of years in and near Berkeley preaching to students, said his experience had taught him that the "living, glowing spirit of Christ is one thing that is most essential in our daily living. On every side there is a growing need for a firm grip upon the fundamentals of religion."

Musical features at last night's Prayer week services included selections by the quartette of the Congregational church and organ numbers by Allen Revell.

Continuing the services here to night, the Rev. Mr. Fry will deliver a sermon in the First Methodist church. His subject will be "Sleeping Disciples and a Suffering God." Tomorrow night, in the First Presbyterian church he will preach on "The Measure of Our Strength." Prayer week services will end Friday night in the First Baptist church, when the Rev. Mr. Fry will take as his text, "The Goal." Special musical numbers will be featured.

NEGRO STUDENT WINS HONORS AS POET

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—An old "tale the grandmas tell" around the negro cabins of the South, which he used as the theme of "The Ballad of the Brown Girl," has won for Countee P. Cullen, negro student at New York university, the second prize in the Witter Bynner undergraduate poetry contest, it has been announced by the Poetry Society of America, under whose auspices the contest was held.

Seven hundred undergraduates, representing sixty-three colleges and universities, entered the competition. Maurice Levenson of the University of Chicago won the contest with "In the Range Country."

Cullen, who is the son of the Rev. Frederick A. Cullen, pastor of the Salem Methodist church, is 20 years old. His "Ballad of the Brown Girl" is not his first venture into verse, as he is a frequent contributor to various magazines. He first attracted attention when, as a student at De Witt Clinton high school, he won the poetry prize offered by the Federation of Women's clubs.

Cullen's ballad, describes the tragedies that follow when the hero disdains the love of the "lily maid," the "pride of all the South," for that of the "dark brown girl" because of the latter's gold.

This is the moral of the ballad: "Oh! lovers, never barter love, For gold or fertile lands, For love is meat and love is drink, And love heeds love's commands."

"And love is shelter from the rain And scowling, stormy skies; Who casts off love must break his heart And rue it till he dies."

Nevada City Once Notorious, Burned

ELY, Nev., Jan. 9.—Ripestown, the West in early boom days, was partially destroyed by fire. With no water supply, flames spread from the Patrelli place and burned a dozen of the principal buildings. Ripestown achieved ignominious fame a few years ago when complaints of copper companies and citizens led to an effort by county and state authorities to close the drinking dens and gambling halls. Action of the county commissioners was forestalled when Ripestown hurriedly incorporated itself and chose members of the vicious element as officials. A bootlegger is said to have been elected mayor, with three gamblers as councilmen. Conditions were remedied only when the state stepped in.

Woman Is Killed
When Auto Skids

HANFORD, Jan. 9.—Mrs. Ross Gonzales suffered fatal injuries and died on the way to the hospital. Tony Demello suffered several broken bones and is in a serious condition at a local hospital, and the two daughters of Mrs. Gonzales were badly shaken up and bruised when the automobile in which they were riding skidded on the Hanford-Vernalis state highway lateral, four miles east of Hanford, overturning and pinning the occupants beneath.

A daughter who was driving the automobile asserts that she attempted to turn out for another car which slowed up suddenly in the dense fog that prevailed. It is believed she applied the brakes, the pavement being wet and slippery, the car skidded off the paved road, and, striking the dirt, rolled over twice and turned completely around.

Mrs. Gonzales leaves a widow, Mr. Louis Gonzales, two daughters and one son.

Two hundred head of wild horses captured on the desert and hills of Humboldt county, Nevada, have been shipped to Santa Barbara, Calif., to be slaughtered for chicken feed.

S. F. Man Is Hurt As Cars Collide

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—Roy Payne, 23, 762 Twenty-seventh avenue, suffered a possible fractured skull and lacerated wounds of the forehead when the automobile he was driving was struck by a touring car at Eleventh and Mission streets. The unidentified driver of the touring car was uninjured and fled from the scene of the accident after abandoning his automobile. Payne was taken to the Central emergency hospital by John Bolinger, 1360 Hyde street, a driver for the Yellow Taxicab company. The automobile which caused the accident is being held by the police pending identification of the owner. The car carried no registration card.

ILLNESS FATAL TO PROMINENT BANKER

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon for Willard J. Doran, vice-president of the Citizens National bank, who died at the family residence here last night. Death was due to heart trouble.

Doran, born in St. Paul, Minn., came west when he was 17, settled in Redlands and worked as a call boy for the Southern Pacific. At the time of his death he was a member of the board of directors of that road. He was prominently identified with the development of Imperial Valley.

A widow and three sisters residing here and a brother in St. Paul survive.

$25,000 FIRE LOSS IN HOLLYWOOD CLUB

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 9.—Damaging six stories of the prominent Tetraushka club and a high class garage, fire early today in the heart of the Hollywood business district caused a $25,000 loss before it was brought under control. Directly across the street from the flames the Gaden Court apartment house is located, one of the city's finest, and the home of many prominent film folk. Occupants, aroused by the smoke, fled from their apartments in fright. An overhauled store in the Tetraushka club is believed to have caused the fire, which firemen battled for two hours before they could control.

MRS. HUGHES' BODY WILL ARRIVE FEB. 7

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Remains of Mrs. Rupert Hughes, wife of the well known author and film director, will arrive in San Francisco on the S. S. President Wilson, February 7, according to advice received by agents here.

This is the same vessel upon which Mrs. Hughes left for China six months ago, seeking to regain her health. She committed suicide in Haipong, China, some weeks ago.

At the request of President Poincaré of France, the governor-general of French Indo-China expedited shipment of the body. Burial will be in Kensico cemetery, Westchester county, New York.

TELL VIOLATION OF STAMP TAX STATUTES

A. B. Pilch, deputy district internal revenue collector for Orange county, with offices in the city hall here, today made public the following statement, received from Rex B. Goodell, internal revenue collector, Los Angeles:

"The most frequent violation of the laws in respect to stamp tax on certificates of stock, deeds, powers of attorneys, proxies and other documents requiring documentary stamps to make them legal under the law.

"The law imposes a fine of $100 for each offense and in these prosperous days in Southern California, with thousands of new corporations issuing stock, with meetings of stockholders where proxies are issued, with hundreds of thousands of deeds passing from grantors to grantees, and with the issuance of hundreds of thousands of other documents necessary to the conduct of business, and which are subject to the stamp tax, it is certainly behooves those responsible to know and comply with the law and to see that proper stamps are affixed and canceled. It is rather expensive to pay a $100 fine for failure to place a 10-cent stamp on a proxy.

"In an investigation now being made it is astounding the number of violations of law that have been discovered. In one case, a corporation issued nearly $200,000 in stock, mostly in small certificates, failing in every case to affix any stamps, so that it faces a fine of nearly $200,000, as each unstamped certificate is an offense.

"It would seem that the ordinary business acumen which this corporation exercised in complying with the requirements of the state corporation commission would cause it also to regard its obligations under Federal law and see that its certificates and documents were properly stamped. I fear that the balance sheet of this and other corporations similarly guilty will be deeply in the red when they get through settling their fines with Uncle Sam."

HUNDREDS SEE MOVIE BABY "DO STUFF"

LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 9.—Hundreds of autoists from all over Southern California gathered on the cliffs south of Laguna to watch the closing scenes of "Captain January." Baby Peggy's first picture under her million-dollar contract, taken under the direction of Eddie Cline.

The magnet which drew them was the taking of a scene in which the lives of a woman and baby were at stake, they being wrapped in canvas, lashed to two spars, taken out into the ocean and released.

Spars Tossed About.

For a time, they were lazily rolled by the easy ground swell which gradually drifted them into the surf. Tossed up and down drenched and buried in all directions by the waves close to the rocks, a giant roller finally swung the spars and their living cargo high in the air and carried them toward a jagged rock near the shore.

Director Cline and his assistants, fearing disaster, started to rush to the aid of the actors, then by a strange caprice, just as it seemed as if the woman and babe were to be dashed to their doom on the rocks, a wave carried their craft out of danger and dropped it on the beach.

Eager hands hurriedly untied the lashings which bound the actors to the spars, and they were released, water soaked and scared but happy after they learned that the scene had turned out wonderfully and no re-take was needed.

Scene Is Beautiful.

The scene, taken in the glare of numerous sun arcs and spotlights, was beautiful and weird, the waves presenting a wonderful sight as the

CAL. GLEE CLUB TO APPEAR AT YOST TONIGHT

Hailed with enthusiasm by more than 200 alumni of Orange county, the University of California Glee club, carrying forty men in the chorus, a full jazz orchestra and a number of solo artists, will be the attraction at the Yost theater here tonight.

The songsters, who were to arrive in the city late this afternoon, will give two shows, one beginning at 6:30 o'clock, and a second entertainment, at which a section will be reserved for county alumni, at 8:30 o'clock.

Saxophone solos, specialty acts by "Buzzy" Lent, well known college comedian, and vocal and violin solos by Dave Forrest, manager of the club, are among the numbers which go to make up a full and varied program.

Nearly a hundred former university students will welcome the club at a 6 o'clock dinner at St. Ann's Inn.

Mrs. William J. Travers of Placentia, president of the Orange County California club, will preside at the dinner and will call on Mrs. Graydon Oliver of Fullerton, and Miss Isabel Anderson, Warren Hillyard and H. C. Head of Santa Ana to give brief talks on the subject of the alumni homecoming held each November on the campus.

Santa Ana persons who will attend the dinner include Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hillyard, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Jules Hilton, Dr. and Mrs. Roy S. Horton, Fred Forgy, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Reinhaus, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Kellogg, Mrs. Lena Moon Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Northcross, Robert Northcross Jr., T. B. Kelly, Miss Lulu B. Finley, Miss Rosa Claven, H. C. Head, D. K. Hammond and Miss Isabel Anderson.

"THE LEAVENWORTH CASE" CLOSING TONIGHT

One of the most absorbing mystery stories ever written will be seen at the Princess theater tonight for the last time. It is "The Leavenworth Case," by Anna Katherine Green, America's foremost writer of detective stories.

"The Leavenworth Case," was transferred to the screen by Whitman Bennett, who viewed this story as one of the best for screen purposes. Bennett and his director, Charles Giblyn were faced by many problems and pitfalls attendant to such an attempt. They first had to guard against selecting any member of the cast who by temperament or manner of acting would give away the value to the spectator as to which one of five persons was actually guilty of the crime.

This pitfall they overcame by selecting such prominent players as Seena Owen, Martha Mansfield, Wilfred Lytell, Bradley Barker, Paul Doucet, William Walcott, Frances Miller Grant and Fred Miller.

Wilfred Lytell has a suspicious, yet romantic role as Anderson. Bradley Barker is not without the pale of investigation, as Raymond, attorney to the wealthy recluse, Leavenworth, who was slain. As Harwell, the murdered man's secretary, Paul Doucet is given unusual opportunity to exercise his screen talents. William Walcott plays the part of Leavenworth.

One of the most distinctive of all caverns is the Ice Cave near Dobson, in Hungary, which has an area of 10,000 square yards. Inside it is always winter, and, as the ice takes very curious shapes, the effect is strikingly beautiful when the cave is illuminated by electricity.

Intense lights played upon them and scintillated through their spray.

The picture is now finished. The ocean scenes were taken on the yacht "Comfort," owned by Rodgers brothers of Balboa, the crew being chosen for their acting ability and sea knowledge.

Mary Pickford as she appears in "Rosita," her latest film offering, which begins a week's engagement at the Temple tonight.

MARY PICKFORD'S "ROSITA" AT TEMPLE TONIGHT.

"When 'Rosita' is shown for the first time at the Temple theater tonight, the public of this city will see an entirely new and a different Mary Pickford.

In this, her latest attraction, she appears as a grown-up young woman.

The famous Mary Pickford curls, of golden hue, are coiffed high in Spanish style of the Nineteenth century, while Miss Pickford, wearing gorgeous gowns with long streaming train, appears lithe and sinuous, revealing a seldom seen phase of the personality loved the world around.

"Rosita" is an entirely different story from anything Mary Pickford ever before has been identified with.

A thrilling tale of Spanish romance is unfolded in swiftly moving scenes; glimpses of carnival and palatial splendor blended into a story of dramatic intensity interspersed with human frailties, comedy intrigue, suspense and mounted on a production of gigantic proportions, abounding in melodrama and love.

As Rosita, Mary Pickford appears in many scenes of dramatic intensity, and while she is seen in the role of an emotional actress, Miss Pickford has played many emotional scenes heretofore, therefore it will not in this sense, be a new Mary. Just a grown-up Mary Pickford never fully revealed until the present.

MAN 8 FEET 9 INCHES TALL IN "WHY WORRY" CAST

In "Why Worry?" his latest comedy entry in the race for popular plaudits, and the feature attraction at the West End theater, Harold Lloyd again pursues his own theory that to mix them up is to serve the public best. Because one likes roast beef is no reason why it should be served him for every meal. And for the same motive, there is no reason why a star should enact a certain type of picture continuously because he happened to achieve a great success in one of them.

"Why Worry?" the biggest picture in Lloyd's category from the point of production. Big sets, huge crowds, and much fighting add to its production values. Yet above all these stand out the character of Lloyd, as the boy who has naught to worry him but imaginary ills. Another outstanding figure is John Aasen. Eight feet, nine and a quarter inches of Aasen stands out on the screen. He is the world's biggest man.

Cleaning Company Moves Its Office

The Crescent Cleaning company, owned and operated by George W. and Harry L. Lambert, has moved its office to the company's main plant at 618 Wellington avenue, according to an announcement made by the proprietors today. The present firm was established more than two years ago.

"Our plant is complete in every detail and contains modern equipment for handling all character of cleaning," said Harry Lambert. "Since moving our office to the main plant and specializing our business under one roof we are prepared to render an even better service to our patrons."

S. A. Advertising Agency In Shift

The Crawford Advertising agency moved today into its new quarters at 218, 219 and 220 Spurgeon building, the suite of rooms used until recently as an apartment by R. L. Blahy.

Proof of the growth of business in Santa Ana is reflected in the expansion of its advertising agency, which now serves thirty-three retail manufacturing institutions of the city with advertising and sales service. It is now what is termed a "recognized national advertising agency," placing advertising in newspapers outside the state of California.

Oil Lease Dispute Still Is in Court

The defense had the center of the stage today, the third day of the trial in Superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court, where L. W. Newlander of Yorba Linda is seeking a share in the royalties of four wells drilled by the General Petroleum corporation upon the lands of A. Y. Yerrington and Lester Keller.

Newlander's counsel rested late yesterday and the defense started presenting testimony to support its contention that Newlander and other ranchers, whose lands were included in a community lease to the oil company, have no rights in the wells which were drilled under a subsequent lease from Yerrington and Keller.

The Keller and Yerrington properties were included in the original community lease, which the oil company abandoned. Others in the community lease contend that the original lease is valid and that they, therefore, are entitled to share in the royalties from the wells.

Hollywood Man Finds Tiny Rum Bottle Not O. K.

J. W. Swords of Hollywood didn't know the United States was dry until today.

At least it cost the movie city man $100 here yesterday to learn that whiskey, regardless of the quantity, can't legally be carried around in automobiles without more or less "fatal" results to the owner.

Swords was arrested by Patrolmen Barnard and Swain near the corner of Fourth and Main streets when he drove his automobile into the curbing to repair a punctured tire. The officers said they saw a small bottle of whiskey reposing on the front seat of the automobile when Swords left the car, leaving the front door wide open.

"I didn't know a man could be arrested for carrying such a small quantity of liquor," was Swords' only comment, the officers said.

Swords was lodged in the county jail prior to his hearing before City Recorder W. F. Heathman.

Ejects Landlord; Court Holds He Used His Right

J. E. Johnson, residing near Garden Grove, was within his rights when he forcibly expelled his landlord, L. W. Kies, from the house he had rented from Kies, according to a decision today had been made by Justice J. B. Cox, who refused to find Johnson guilty of battery.

Johnson was tried on the battery charge late yesterday. Kies and Mrs. Kies appeared against him. Johnson testified in his own defense.

Kies admitted that he went to the house to order Johnson to vacate. When Johnson failed to respond to knocking or verbal summons, he stepped inside of the door and Kies declared, Johnson then struck him.

The court held that a man's home is his castle, even though it be a rented castle. Johnson had possession of the premises and Kies had no business inside of the house, Justice Cox ruled.

He is believed to have frozen to death during the night, when the temperature at Victorville dropped to zero. In the victim's pockets was found a small sum of money. It was stated that the man had been seen at Victorville.

LAY PLANS FOR CONVENTION IN ANAHEIM

Instructor and Students
Begin Work on Program
For Press Meeting

ANAHEIM UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 9.—Busy times are ahead for the journalism instructor and the journalism class of this high school.

Faced with the responsibility of arranging for the spring meeting of the Southern California High School Press association, Bert Steelhead, instructor, and his staff of young writers are already busy on plans which they calculate will culminate in the most successful convention in the history of the organization.

The Anaheim meeting will mark the first time the association has been held in other than a Los Angeles county high school and for that reason, if for no other, the local high school journalists are anxious to outdo all previous efforts at entertainment.

At the present time the Easter vacation period has been tentatively set for the convention but a change in the date may be made. Long Beach high school, the secretary school, has the dictation of the dates and for that reason no definite announcement can be made at this time. Steelhead will confer with the Long Beach representatives this week or early next week.

To facilitate the staging of the convention Steelhead this week took up the suggestion first made in the columns of the Junior Register for the formation of an Orange County High School Press association. When this association is formed Orange county will have the unique honor of "blazing the way" in California in the county organization plan.

A number of prominent journalists and educators have already agreed to make addresses and others are being lined up.

Draw Up Code of Ethics
One of the features of the convention will be the report of the committee appointed to draw up a code of ethics for the guidance of high school writers. In this respect, also, the Southern California High School Press association will set a new pace for a high school news-writing association as no other organization of the kind in the nation has a code of this kind at present.

Another report of interest will be that of a committee on re-drafting the constitution. At the last meeting held in Huntington Park, at which the Anaheim was awarded the spring meeting, several glaring faults were revealed which are in dire need of remedy, according to Steelhead. One of these is in regard to the election of president and secretary.

At the present time the school selected for the convention is allowed to name its school editor as president of the convention, this giving the association the actual choice of a leader. The secretary school is likewise selected with the designation of the officer left to the school journalism instructor.

The same situation applies to the treasury. At the present time Hollywood high school treasurer by virtue of a vote taken two years ago when the convention was held in the cinema city. Why Hollywood should be allowed to hold the office year after year has appeared strange to many members of the organization and it is expected that this position will receive the earnest attention of the delegates and will probably result in the adoption of an amendment remedying the situation.

Further announcement of the plans will be made from time to time in the Junior Register and in "The Anoranco" of Anaheim high school publication, Steelhead said today.

THE GIRL WHO WOULD NOT MARRY BY THE BOY WHO WOULDN'T EITHER

BY BETTY HAZELTON
Huntington Beach Union High School

(Submitted in Competition for the Best Story Cup)
I had decided positively and absolutely NOT to marry. I was planning to be a professor, so that if ever tempted to marry, which I considered quite impossible, I could not, because I would be unable to support a wife. This I decided at fourteen. I was just as sincere in my resolution as the boy who declares himself ravenously after a hunting trip. Of all the evils I might succumb to, from marriage I felt quite safe. I hated girls—you often do hate something you fear. I enjoyed beating rugs on a dandy fishing day, as compared to attending a party. From a light musical laugh someone back of me, I would dash away frantically. That at fourteen!

SHE admonished boys! She was even more sure that she would not marry than I was. If such a thing were possible. She surely was not afraid of boys, but to her they were a nuisance. If necessary she would endure them, but they irritated and bored her almost beyond belief. She is beautiful. I didn't know it at fourteen. At sixteen I realized that she was divine. She is dark, striking, with wonderful eyes,

SHIPS AT NIGHT
I watch the ships at night,
Out on the far horizon,
Like moving stars upon the sea—
Those lights that I rest my eyes on.

I feel not the throb of the engines,
Nor the sickening roll of the waves;
I know not the port it hails from,
Nor the storms or the gales it braves.

So those moving lights to the seaward
Seem like a dream to me,
As along the far horizon
They twinkle so peacefully.

Many Subjects For Term Papers

BY AUBERNE HUFFMAN
TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL
Jan. 9.—All subjects known to be in captivity pertaining to the United States history are being drawn upon in the concoction of the term papers. It takes a comparatively exhaustive study of a subject to write one of these since a minimum of 1000 words has been set. "To make a thorough study of one subject," says Coach Murray, "show the student there is usually more to a topic than is put into the textbook. Matter must be boiled down and cut short to put a survey of United States history into one text. Sometimes a short paragraph in a text will yield chapters or even books on the subject, very interesting and beneficial to know."

A partial list of subjects shows a wide variety such as: "The Mexican War," "The Panama Canal," "The Lewis and Clark Expedition," "The Bear Flag Republic," "Reconstruction of the South both Social and Political," "The Lincoln-Douglas Debates," "The History of Tennessee," "The Settlement of Oregon," "Life of General Lee," "The Civil War in Kansas," and the lives of presidents from George Washington down. Some papers are also being written on the work of various statesmen.

History Contest At Beach Ended

BY ALICE HILL
HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 9.—The winning side in the World's history contest lasting from Nov. 1 to Dec. 7, 1923, was chosen by Mrs. Betts on Thursday Dec. 20, 1923. The class was divided into two equal sections, with Lily Price captain of one section and Della O'Quinn captain of the other.

The object was to determine which side could obtain the best and largest amount of advertisements involving historical data and illustrations from the time of the cave man up to the Roman period.

Captain Price's group was judged the winner, and that superior squad is to be given a party by Captain O'Quinn's side.

so full of mischief that one may expect the unexpected any moment.
At seventeen I wandered around the school building aimlessly, tortured by her cutting remarks, her apparent coldness. Every glimpse of her thrilled me. Just meeting her on the street sent my blood racing; the joy of walking with her put my nerves on a dreadful tension.
After I had begged her for days, she finally consented to go with me to a party. I was elated. That night she was beautiful. So was the moonlight. I appreciated it. Apparently she didn't. We strolled among the trees and found the most romantic spot I ever saw. I had intended placing my kneeling, but I couldn't summon courage.
Faint music of the dance reached us. Somewhere in ambush a cat serenaded his lady-love. But I was incapable of emitting any such nightingale strains. With all the fervor of a man who knows he has met his true mate, I mumbled a few rather unintelligible syllables.
She denied that I would die without her, but—The pastor in a nearby town was a needy chap, and morning disclosed a Ford coupe speeding on its honeymoon.

RE-WRITE MAN BLASTS CUB REPORTERS

Average "Cub" Should Know Much He Doesn't
Read the Account

For the benefit of, and, perhaps, the amusement, of those young writers who intend to make newspaper work their chosen profession this article by a re-write man is printed. A re-write man doesn't very often re-write. He takes over the telephone the information assembled by the reporter "leg men" and puts it into form for printing. Some reporters, especially police reporters, don't come around the office except Saturdays to "see the ghost walk." Consequently the re-write man who has to listen to a lot of silly prattle from a cub reporter is sometimes justified in raising up on his back legs and yawning. He has his inning here. Fire when ready, Griddle.

BY A RE-WRITE MAN.
The average cub reporter, fresh from the journalism school, should know a great deal that he doesn't. The main trouble, it seems, is that he hasn't been taught. Perhaps he hasn't listened.

The young reporter, plunging into the chaos of earning his living, nine times out of ten, is assigned to a police beat. If he works for an afternoon paper, he should first know his headlines; he should be acquainted with the use of his telephone, and he should be able to judge in a small way the value of news.

He doesn't bother with these things until he has been beaten a half a dozen times.
Let us consider the first item. The re-write man is crowded to the limit about 10 minutes before the edition goes over. He hasn't any time to play around. A cub calls up and bothers him with a lot of foolish detail when about 30 words would give the re-write man time to write a stick or two.

In the second place, most of the youngsters migrating from the state halls of education to the drab inside of a newspaper local room, think they will start in to hammer out their own copy.

They are under the impression that a college education is a short cut to a byline.
The first time a new reporter gets hold of a telephone, he looks at the transmitter and forgets his name.

The deadline is usually close by. When he finally pulls his scattered thoughts together, the story comes out backwards and upside down. The lead is hidden deep in a mass of irrelevant details.

His voice is not turned to the receiver, and his story, to the re-write man, sounds like a lot of mixed signals. The reporter should have been given a six months' course in talking over the telephone.

Many youngsters have the idea that if a police hearing lasts two hours, it is good for the front page. They fail to realize that a group of men could stand by chatting for a few hours might offer nothing of news value. The majority of court cases are that way. Furthermore, the cub fails to realize, often, that time taken the edge off a story. I remember once, when I was on the re-write desk in Chicago, a lad new to the business called me on a deadline. He talked for 15 minutes.

"There's no news in that," I told him, after he had finished. "What makes you think that it's worth anything?"

"Well," was his reply, "the newspapers played it for headlines two weeks ago."

I explained to him, in no uncertain terms, the wherefore of his folly. He had repeated a tale a fortnight old and expected to have his paper reprint it on the strength of a municipal court hearing.

Let the schools of journalism prosper. I hope the youngsters in the profession will absorb idealism. A higher standard in the profession would be welcome at any time.

But, regardless of ideals, I cannot help but think if the teachers would look less often at the stars while guiding the destiny of their embryo journalists, the graduates would fall less often into the ditch when they faced the hard cruel world of newspaperdom.

GEMS AND GOLD OF MISSION HIDDEN?

Capistrano Fathers Held to Have Buried Chest In
Trabuco Canyon

BY ETHEL OSTERMAN
TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL
Jan. 9.—Do mystery and tales of the Spanish rule in California make your blood throbb just a little faster? Yes? Then hearken to this tale which has been preserved through the intervening years since the Mexican war.

Fathers Feared Thieves
Somewhere about the year 1846, the Padres of the old mission of San Juan Capistrano found a mound to the treasures of their mission. This was in the form of those who, taking advantage of the then current turmoil, essayed to possess themselves of the spoils of war.

In face of the imminent danger, the supposition is that the wealth of the mission—consisting of gold, gems, and valuable ornaments of the mission itself—was trundled to Trabuco canyon by ox-cart and buried at—ah! buried where?

That is exactly the question which for years has perplexed so many would-be discoverers. For many are they who have sought to unearth the hidden store of wealth.
Clues Discovered
A few supposed clues have been discovered. A huge key was found in a crotch of a sycamore tree. A goodly distance down the canyon from the sycamore, stands a large oak on which is carved a now indistinct cross. It is this oak which had been one of most interest to the treasure seekers. The belief has been that somewhere beneath that oak, at a given distance from the cross, is the spot where the treasure lies. Others declare that the cross was but carved to identify an Indian grave.

Evidences of excavations are seen in the depressions about the tree and in a rusted and broken garden spade.
Search has also been made in other places about the canyon and a good deal of time and money has been spent in fruitless effort.

There still remains the doubt of the existence of the treasure. It may have been hidden, but would not the padres have removed it secretly? It seems unlikely that such wealth, if really buried there, should have been left without an attempt to regain it.

And yet—ah, well! Who knows?

Girls Baseball At Beach Keen

BY THELMA MCKENNEY
HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 9.—Much competition is anticipated in girls' baseball this year at Huntington Beach high school.

Each of the four classes of the school is to have its team. These teams will have scheduled games in which to play for the school championship. Miss Benedict, the coach, will choose the first team from the players on the class teams.

Every girl's physical training period for the day is full of good material for baseball. This year under the able training of Miss Benedict, Huntington hopes to make a good showing in the league games.

Art Department Draws Students

BY VINTON JOAN
HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 9.—The Huntington Beach art department, under the excellent supervision of Miss Trafford, has been more successful this year than ever before. The art room is small but during the few weeks before Christmas it was crowded with students doing polychrome and batik work.
Of course Christmas meant Christmas cards and as a result many beautiful cards were designed and painted.

REAL ENGLISH IS 'FOREIGN' OVER HERE

Some Terms Found to Be Surprisingly Strange
to Americans

The oceanic edition of the Chicago Tribune has a most interesting article on "English" by Lawrence Morris. It is too long for publication in full, but we are presenting below a few statements taken at random from this article:

All my life, I have nodded my head when political orators alluded to the bond of common tongue that held America to England.
I know now that I never did or will speak English. When it is written on paper, it bears a deceiving resemblance to the language I studied at school, but when it is spoken from the lips of a Londoner, it must be translated, word for word (or such words as one could make out from the incredible pronunciation) as you would rework French.

"Cops" Are "Constables"
When I arrived in London, I made my way to a policeman, rather, I made my way to a constable, for they do not know what a policeman is, in London.

The hotel room clerk is called secretary, a trunk is called a box, apple pie is called apple tart, a water pitcher becomes a water jug.

Any train away from London is a down train. They know nothing in London of eastbound or westbound, north or southbound trains. It is always the up train (to Londoners) or the down train.
A railway car is a carriage, a van is luggage and the baggage car is the luggage van. The Express company is simply a carrier. For freight, they say goods and they are constant in calling the freight agent the goods manager, and the freight car, the goods cars. The parlor car staggers under the grand name of Saloon carriage.

They do not have railway men but railway servants. The person who rents rooms and takes meals in a house is not a boarder but a paying guest.
"Hot Dogs" Unknown
The editorial in a newspaper is called a leader. A short editorial paragraph is a leaderite. Orchestra seats in a theater are unknown. They call such seats stalls. Peanuts are called monkey-nuts, and the Englishman would not dare eat them in public. My friend, poor fellow, had never heard of such a thing as a hot-dog, a devilled crab or Boston baked beans.

Bok Peace Award Attracts Notice

BY FLORENCE BOOSEY
TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 9.—Shall the United States cooperate with the League of Nations to promote world peace, or shall it maintain the aloof position it held before the Great War? Shall it enter the World Court and help settle the disputes of European nations?
To solve these questions is the purpose of the Peace contest instituted by Edward Bok, prominent author and former editor of the Ladies' Home Journal. Mr. Bok has offered a prize of $100,000 for the best plan offering a solution for world peace. Twenty-two thousand one hundred and sixty-five propositions have been received by Mr. Bok, and have been referred for judgment to a committee headed by Elihu Root.
With the name of the contestant withheld the winning proposal has been submitted to public ballot through the leading newspapers of the country.
Whether or not Congress acts upon the vote taken, Edward Bok is certainly to be commended upon the pains he has taken to discover public sentiment in regard to world peace.

TENNIS RULES LAID OUT

Up to this time students have been playing tennis while wearing any kind of shoes, but hereafter no one will be allowed on the courts without tennis shoes.

WAXEN MODELS CAUSE SLOUCH AMONG GIRLS

Window Ladies Are Blamed
For Present Day Willow
Effect In Posture

BY BLANCHE HELM
HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 9.—When high school girls first began to acquire humped backs and slouchy figures, it was said "the poor things were studying too hard," that continually bending over books was ruining their shapes.
But when the modern baby-dolls, who were never known to study, began to slouch over, those who were interested began casting about for something else to place the blame upon.

At last the search is rewarded, for from Sacramento comes the news that the waxen window ladies who proudly parade the latest Paris fashions while taking "hideous," "anatomically impossible positions" are the direct cause of the school-girl slouch.

Dr. Herbert Stolz, state director of physical education, says that the waxen images are a menace to the human race. The American Posture league has now started a movement to make the window models stand erect, thus giving the poor little school girl a chance to rightly develop her body.
Miss Benedict, dean of girls at the Huntington Beach high school, agrees with Dr. Stolz, and goes on to say that the girls are not conscious of imitating the waxen window ladies, who have an unlimited wardrobe and often parade in the show windows with very little on, but the sight of the slouchy figures, attractively dressed, day in and day out has a psychological effect upon the modest young creature of today.
When the dainty Paris gowns are placed upon Joan-of-Ar figures, then the sweet little school-girl may walk down the street in perfect safety.

Why Some Editors Go Crazy

This is Cartoonist Hugh Hick's idea of why some editors reform and start a ditch digging career. Hicks, a Santa Ana high school boy, has consented to draw several pictures for the Junior Register and to supply "The Anoranco" of Anaheim high school with a special picture for the edition of that paper at the time of the convention of the High School Press association.

TOT MORTALITY IS LOWEST IN BIG CITIES

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The theory long held the child of the congested districts of larger cities has less prospect of surviving than his brother or sister of the smaller town is somewhat upset by statistics just published by the American Child Health association, of which Herbert Hoover is the president.

While the lowest infant mortality rates registered in the United States are in smaller towns, such as Braintree, Mass., and Berkeley, Cal., which are chiefly residential communities, it is in cities of this same size, with populations of between 10,000 and 25,000, that the highest rates are registered. This is true particularly of manufacturing and mining centers.

New York City reported in 1922 that only 75 of each 1,000 children born died before reaching their first birthday.

Buffalo, with 103; Kansas City, with 100, and Pittsburgh, with 96, have the highest rate of the 25 American cities with more than 250,000 population. Of these same large cities as exceedingly low death rate is reported by Seattle, with 49; Minneapolis, with 53, and Portland, Ore., with 56.

Of the next smaller cities those of from 100,000 to 250,000 population, the highest rates are reported from San Antonio, with 143; Fall River, Mass., with 126, and Trenton, N. J., with 108. The lowest rates among cities of this population are Grand Rapids, with 61; Bridgeport, with 64, and Omaha with 64.

Pawtucket, R. I., and Charleston, S. C., are highest among cities of 50,000 to 100,000, with 120. Chicago, Pa., comes next, with 122. The lowest rate among cities of this class is that of East Orange, N. J., with 34; Berkeley and Long Beach, Cal., rank second and third, with 37 and 38 respectively.

Of cities of from 25,000 to 50,000 population, Pueblo, Colo., is highest with 131. Newport, R. I., is low in cities of this type, with 28. Next comes Montclair, N. J., with 42, and Alameda, Cal., with the same rate as Montclair.

One of the highest rates in the United States is returned from Bristol, R. L., with 202, and Dunmore, Pa., a mining center, has 177. And in this same classification of cities, from 10,000 to 25,000, the lowest rate in the United States is registered. It is that of Braintree, Mass., with only 24. Columbus, Miss., is close up, with only 26, and Astoria, Ore., has cut its rate to the almost irreducible minimum of 29.

MORE VALUE ~ than in any closed car!

New Four Door Sedan $1395

F. O. B. Cleveland

—This Cleveland type was great value at $1545. More impressive than ever is the new 1924 model at $1395.

For 1924, Cleveland announces the biggest closed car values ever offered to the public.

Two new sedans are presented at prices heretofore never achieved by any builder of quality sixes: $1295 for the 5 passenger sedan; and $1395 for the luxurious four door model.

Bodies by Fisher

The bodies which reflect Fisher's unmistakable mastery in the coach builder's art, represent a welcome departure from the makeshift construction that many manufacturers are satisfied to sponsor.

Thirteen painting operations produce a deep, rich, enduring color finish. Carefully selected plush, beautiful and long wearing, is used for upholstery. The seats are deep, soft, lounge-like, and restful. Generous interior dimensions and skillful seating arrangement preclude the crowding so frequently experienced in sedans of moderate price.

Performance Supremacy

Even though they carry the lowest prices ever placed on enclosed cars of similar specifications, Cleveland 1924 sedans are notable for the performance supremacy produced by the new Cleveland motor.

Its extra power in the driving range is responsible for amazing performance brilliance. No light six equals or even compares with the Cleveland's thrilling speed on hills or its alert, smooth, silent response to the accelerator in traffic.

Do not fail to see these dominant closed cars! Combining the sound appeal of a rugged chassis, the attraction of smart, modern lines and the charm of spacious interiors luxuriously finished, they merit the single inspection that will reveal the matchless values they offer!

BODY BLOWS CAUSE OF MISKE'S DEATH

Prize Fighters Paid Well But Many Times Forced To Pay Heavily

By JOE WILLIAMS

So you read where Jack Dempsey was paid $700,000 for two fights last summer—

And you think that is a pretty soft way to make money—

A lot easier than running a freight elevator, or driving rivets in a boiler factory, you say? Billy Miske thought that way, too.

Now Miske is dead at 29. A widow and three children mourn him. A fistful world that paid thousands to see him fight, gamely it not brilliantly, during his 10-year career shrugs a sympathetic shoulder. "Well, he could take it, anyway."

Miske could take it. That's what killed him, take it. Disease, brought about by excessive body punishment. Miske was not a great defensive fighter at close quarters. It was not hard to reach his vital spots.

Three times he fought Dempsey. Twice he went the limit with the great slugger. The third time he was battered to the canvas. Dempsey punished him cruelly with what is known as the kidney punch. So did other fighters for that matter.

Many Fighters Blinded
Few fighters are killed outright in the ring. Now and then a fatality occurs. A punch from Jess Willard killed Bull Young. A punch from Arthur Pelkey killed Luther McCarthy. Others have been killed by wicked blows. But the percentage is small in comparison to the number of fights. It is later on in life that the rightful effects of hand to hand fighting take hold.

Fighting has blinded more men than all other forms of sport combined. Some have lost their vision completely, others have suffered a partial blindness that reduced them to an almost helpless state. Pete Herman, former bantamweight champion of the world, is a recent and pathetic example. His fellow townsman, Joe Mandot, once a great lightweight, is another. Monte Attell, now on the coast, needs a cane and a guide. And these are but a few.

Others Lose Minds
Blindness is not the only penalty the battered fighter is compelled to pay. Nature, outraged, is unrelenting in her tolls. A severe wallop about the head is not calculated to improve one's sanity. Repeated wallopings often destroy it completely.

You read much of "cuckoo fighters," fighters who have literally been punched silly. There are many of them. Some end their days in asylums, impersonating the Marquis of Queensberry himself.

No, the business of fighting is not an easy game. The money is easy but in the end you pay for it—and pay frightfully.

Stick to your freight elevator, or your job in the boiler factory—Possibly, you won't become rich or famous, but you will live longer.

KRAMER WINS BOUT FROM YOUNG BROWN

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Danny Kramer, popular mitt artist from Philadelphia, proved to be too much for Young Brown in the main event at the Vernon Coliseum last night. Brown won the admiration of the crowd because of his gameness for the lacing Kramer handed him was severe. Brown substituted for Stewart MacLean, who had to withdraw from the card because of an injured eye.

Frankie Grandetta, the "Battering Shell," won a decision over Jockey Joe Dillon in the semi-windup. Jack Edmundson was allowed a decision over Ernie Owens in a rather poor bout that was billed as a feature. Ray Jeffries and Art Springer put on one of the best bouts of the evening, setting a draw. Louie Garcia and Nick Antonio also boxed a draw. Bud Forrester was a little too good for Young Steers in their bout. Scotty Diet and Johnny Metzler put on a slashing draw bout as an opener for the bill.

Most all the great golfers start young. Bobby Jones started when he was a mere child. Now he is the open champion of America. Arthur Havers hit his first golf ball at the age of 4. Now he is the open champion of the British empire. Max Marston, present holder of the American amateur championship, has probably been reading up on golf history. At any rate, he has decided to start his young son, Max Jr., in as a golfer right away. This picture shows the champion instructing young Max in the art of club swinging.

Jack Dempsey talks of retiring and going into business as soon as he has added one and a half millions to his fortune by fighting Tommy Gibbons, Harry Wills and Luis Angel Firpo.

The heavyweight champion probably means that he will be forced into involuntary retirement if he succeeds in keeping his million dollar chin out of the range of Gibbons, Wills and Firpo.

The heavyweight class is in such a state of decline that Dempsey will be "forced" to do a second number with Gibbons and Firpo, and if Wills gives him a good fight he might be able to work the colored challenger up into a "logical contender" for a return bout.

Looking over the contenders as they now stand, Dempsey might be believed sincere in announcing his intentions to retire because he would have no other contender to fight.

Any deductions of this kind, however, are made without giving credit to Tex Rickard. As long as Rickard is in the promoting business it can be bet that an annual contender will be developed for a title fight.

Some boys, who are working for thirty a week, and some less, will find it hard to figure what Dempsey means by quitting the fight game and going into business.

Dempsey, it would seem, is now in the most remunerative business in the world. Right off hand there can be picked from the legal, medical, professional or commercial world no young man under thirty, without an education or any bringing up, who has made $700,000 for himself and $700,000 for his partner.

Dempsey, we heard him say not so long ago, does not want to retire, unless it can be that he is in love and wants to get married.

The champion said when he was training for the Firpo fight that he intended to defend his title until he was no longer champion, as he was no more willing to cut off the revenue from the championship than any young man is to quit a job that means more than $100,000 a year without stepping into the ring.

Dempsey did say that he would never get married as long as he was the champion, and if he is so eager to get married he might retire, but with his $700,000 he'll need dough when he gets tied up and he'll have to go back to work eventually.

Like any young man who once had to get here and there on the

REDLANDS AND WHITTIER LOOM AS BEST OF SOUTHERN CONFERENCE COURT FIVES

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Basketball, a sport which has come into public favor not only because of its intrinsic merit but because it gives brilliant sport writers a chance to call it a varied assortment of truck garden names, opens the 1924 season here tonight when the Trojans meet the Los Angeles athletic club five.

For University of Southern California, Boyer and Campbell, forwards; Hawkins, center; Rice and Dorsey, guards, will probably take the floor. The club lineup will be: Laswell and Ailing, forwards; Reason, center; Saunders and Larson, guards.

In the Southern California Intercollegiate conference things are not of the best. All the coaches are considerably behind time in development of their squads and are not particularly anxious for the season to open next Saturday night.

Pomona has not laid much claim to favorable publicity this year despite a fine lot of material. Coach Carl Schott has two veterans, Captain Paul Papasian and

Irvine Ball Club To Battle Hughes Club Next Sunday

The fast little Irvine baseball club, taking on the best of them as they come along, will run into more tough competition at its cross-roads last next Sunday afternoon. Manager Arthur Trickey today closed negotiations for his Beapickers to swap hits with the reorganized Hughes Ice Cream company nine of Los Angeles.

Irvine, with the clever "Red" Billman on the mound, has turned back some of the strongest semi-professional clubs in the Southland during Sunday the Beapickers defeated Elmer Meyers, Salt Lake coast league hurler.

The Hughes lineup follows: Armstrong, ss; Schilt, lf; Gates, 3b; Burns, 2b; Porter, 1b; Dumbuch, cf; Hasting, c; Donnelly, p; Sisto, rf.

DEMPSEY MAY BOX WILLS IN SUMMER

Philadelphia May Be Bout
Scene As Tex Rickard
After Arena Control

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Definite moves to stage the Dempsey-Wills fight in Philadelphia next summer are seen behind the negotiations in process to turn the control of the Philadelphia arena over to Tex Rickard.

While it has not been confirmed here, it is known positively that Rickard wants to get the arena, which is the "Madison Square Garden" of Philadelphia, and that he will be successful.

In moving toward Philadelphia, Rickard is either seeking a place of refuge or he is acting upon a desire to extend his field of operations.

If the politicians in New York carry out their threat to oust Rickard or repeal the boxing law, he would have an ideal spot in Philadelphia because it is the greatest fight town in the country. If the campaign against him fails, he would have a very fine field in which to extend his activities.

brake-beams and who many times had to get his food at back doors. Dempsey ought to have a good idea about how much a dollar is worth and there is no evidence to lead anyone to the belief that the heavyweight champion does not take care of his money.

Washing, greasing, polishing. Grand Central Service Garage, First and Sycamore.

Wendell Lorber, around which to build his team. California developed Pomona 53 to 7 on its barn-storming tour.

Whittier showed good strength against the Bears in the pre-season game, in which the Bears only lost by a 30 to 19 score. At bad at all, and Coach Essex Peley is likely to surprise a lot of people before the final roll is called.

Caltek is in the dumps and does not care who knows it. Coach Musselman last two of his best men when Moyse and Shaefer quit the game. It is going to be a hard season for Caltek and no doubt will be unsuccessful.

Speed is going to be the song of Coach Caddy Works at University of California, southern branch. Works has not much to work with, but he plans to turn out a fast five that will rely upon quick passing and shooting for its victories.

Redlands has the best prospects of any school in the conference, but will meet with plenty of trouble from Occidental and Whittier. Thompson, Hosgood and Knights are the letter men at Redlands.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ENDORSES PLAN TO CONSTRUCT BASEBALL PARK IN CITY

The city of Santa Ana today had virtual assurance that within the next few months it will have a high class baseball park and a strong semi-professional team, following a meeting of the directors of the local Chamber of Commerce last night at which the project, presented by Josh Clarke, Frank Kerwin, Billy Feistner and other well known Southern California baseball men, was unanimously endorsed and a committee appointed to report on available sites for the athletic plant.

Feistner, now connected with the Shell Oil company club of Long Beach, and Kerwin, Los Angeles newspaperman, outlined the project to the directors who named Alex Brownridge, chairman, W. H. Spurgeon Jr. and M. B. Wellington as a committee to investigate and report back on plots of ground that might be leased at a reasonable sum and for a period of years for the park.

The visiting group also included Frank Metz, manager of the Sioux City club of the Western League and Fred Fairbanks, Nashville, Southern league pitcher, now with the Shell Oil company club.

Want City's Good-Will
"We would like to come to Santa Ana, build a baseball plant of which the city could be proud and install a real team that could hold its own with any semi-professional aggregation in Southern California," Feistner said. "First, however, we want the good will and support of the Chamber of Commerce and kindred organizations. We don't want to come in where we aren't wanted."

"The group that I represent is prepared to spend in the neighborhood of $8000 in the construction of a baseball park. For this we would need approximately six acres of ground. After that we would be prepared to go out after players capable of giving Santa Ana Class A semi-professional baseball."

May Form League
Kerwin, who now is connected with the Glendale club, expressed the belief that within the next few months a Southern California league would be formed that would play two or three games a week. This league, he said, probably would be composed of Long Beach, San Diego, Santa Ana, Glendale, Santa Monica and Bakersfield.

Feistner declared his group was prepared to begin building activities here as soon as suitable arrangements were completed for a lease on a site.

BEAR FIVE IN SOUTH
SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 9.—The University of California basketball team will meet the undefeated San Diego Y. M. C. A. quintet here tomorrow for Fresno where they play the state college of Fresno Friday night.

A PUZZLE A DAY

A man had a heavy chain of ten links, which weighed five pounds. The links, from the top of the chain to the bottom, were capable of bearing the following weights: One, 250 lb.; two, 230 lb.; three to nine, each 260 lb.; ten, 285 lb. How great a weight could be hung from this chain without breaking it? This is a puzzle that sheds a new light on the old axiom, "A chain is as strong as its weakest link."

Yesterday's answer:

The original label on the box stated "HANDLE WITH CARE." The new label "IT CAN WEIGH HARD" contains the very same 14 letters in different order.

EVENING SALUTATION

GOD'S beneficence streams out from the morning sun, and His love looks down upon us from the starry eyes of midnight. It is His solicitude that wraps us in the air, and the pressure of His hand, so to speak, that keeps our pulses beating.

—Edwin H. Chapin.

RECORD AND INSURANCE RATES

The annual report of Fire Chief John Luxembourg, showing the total fire loss in Santa Ana during 1923 to have been only $21,645.50, in itself is a tribute to Santa Ana's fire-fighters. Handicapped though they have been by an inadequate fire alarm system and by having to cover the entire city from one station, the men have reached fires quickly and have handled every fire as well as circumstances allowed.

The department is living up to its traditions. Beginning forty or more years ago, the department in early years made up of volunteers, set a pace for "getting there in a hurry". Throughout the years Santa Ana's business section has had no disastrous fires. The number of residences destroyed by fire in Santa Ana has been remarkably small.

The present year will end with the fire department in much better position than it is now to handle any and all emergencies that come its way. Larger water mains, a new fire alarm system and two additional fire stations, one in the eastern and one in the western part of the city, are being added to the fire fighting equipment of the municipality.

Santa Ana's record in relation to disastrous fires has been taken into consideration in years past in fixing fire insurance rates for Santa Ana. True, fire underwriters have said that our record has been due largely to luck. That's their way of looking at it. We believe that the record throughout these years has been due to the traditions and the personnel of the department. To these two important items in figuring a city's fire risks, we will soon have added fire fighting facilities. Altogether, we should be due for a favorable action in relation to fire insurance rates.

THE EBELL CLUBHOUSE

The new Ebell clubhouse is now completely framed and outlined, so that its size and general appearance are clearly discernible. It is putting it very conservatively to say that, even in its merely physical aspect, this structure is going to be a credit to the community—a source of pleasure and delight to every citizen—and a fitting expression of the enterprise, confidence, civic pride and vision of the ladies of the Ebell Club.

Certainly these ladies are to be commended and congratulated upon the courage and confidence which characterizes their enterprise. They have builded for the future. They are building for the future, which is to say they are building wisely and well. Their new clubhouse has been planned on lines that will meet the needs of the Greater Santa Ana which we all vision and which we all will win.

But in our appreciation of this great civic enterprise we must not fail to sense its ethical and cultural importance and value. This beautiful commodious permanent home for the Ebell Club symbolizes the highest ideals of community life and brings into full play the intelligence and enthusiasm of the very flower of our citizenry.

THE MOVIE SHORTAGE

It is now reported that from the first of March to some time in April there will actually be a shortage of new moving picture films from the big producing companies. This is the result of the partial shutting down of a number of studios and the total cessation of work at others.

But the public won't have to go without its movies. It isn't that sort of shortage. There will be many releases of former good pictures. Also a number of excellent pictures made by independents and hitherto kept off the market through lack of a releasing channel will now be purchased by big producers and shown to the public.

On the whole this is regarded as a wholesome state of affairs which will tend in the end to cut down the number of superficial, million-dollar pictures and to turn out more good five and six-reel photoplays. Part of the public, at least, hopes that the improvement will extend far enough to leave behind some of the weak twaddle that appears to be inevitable in the movies now.

When it ceases to be necessary to distort the character delineation of books turned into screen plays in order to effect improbable reconciliations and happy endings, then will the movies enter upon an era of genuine dramatic development.

BUSINESS SENSE

Big business interests of France and Germany have been going over the heads of their governments and arranging to exchange Lorraine iron ore for Ruhr coal. The German coal barons and the French iron magnates have no difficulty in coming to agreement about the matter. They are practical men, knowing what is good for them and their communities and taking the short cut to get it.

That is exactly what has been done on this side of the water by Americans and Canadians—our coal has been traded for Canadian iron, to the benefit of both countries. What is sound business on one continent is sound business on another. The only difficulty, in applying the method in Europe, is to keep the politicians from interfering under a pretense of "patriotism".

Iron ore is neither patriotic nor unpatriotic; neither is coal. Neither is 99 per cent of human labor. Yet it takes some professional patriots a long time to learn that the first essential, in any country, is to give economic law free play and let the people earn a living.

SAFETY FIRST PROPAGANDA

A city checking up its traffic accidents for 1923 finds that there were 45 more traffic deaths than in 1922. Yet 23 fewer children under 16 years were killed. The decrease in accidents to children is attributed to systematic traffic supervision in front of schools and to the teaching of traffic dangers in schools. According to the records, no children were killed going to or coming from school.

In other words, careful and continued attention to a specific problem has met with success. Systematic traffic supervision at every danger point and the teaching of traffic dangers to drivers and pedestrians alike ought to meet similar success in reducing the number of traffic deaths and injuries among adults as they have already done among the school population. This suggests the advisability of "safety first" talks in Santa Ana schools—in all of the schools of the county, in fact.

About the time an agreement has been arrived at as to what should be done to save the farmer, the country usually wakes up to find that the farmer has saved himself.

Let Congress Do Its Stuff

Fresno Republican

There is another piece of political sincerity that we should demand of our national politicians this year, as well as a collection of simple and explicit national platforms.

We should demand equally that Congress act directly and conclusively on the straight forward issues that are placed before it.

We have a right, this session of Congress, to explicit action on the tax proposals that are placed before it by Secretary Mellon.

We have equally a right to explicit action on the bonus question.

On the bonus matter, we have no reason to suppose that it will be treated any more intelligently by a Congress that would be elected in 1924 than by the congressmen chosen in 1922. There is no reason for pulling and hauling on this matter through another campaign.

It has been debated on every aspect.

The members of this Congress should express themselves on a reasonably drawn bill. If they adopt it, then President Coolidge can veto it if he sees proper, and then the two Houses can again consider it, it passing it over the veto or making the veto effective.

This is the way to do this business. It should be disposed of.

The tax proposals of Secretary Mellon have an equal right to acceptance or rejection.

Not necessarily by a straight yes or no. For these proposals from the secretary's office involve a number of principles and a good many different practical applications of them.

Congress may accept some, and reject others. But Congress should act on each. And then pass up to the President a complete taxation scheme.

We have a right to demand this result of our national legislature.

The Most Popular Men

Stockton Independent

Of all the "ten most" contests in this and other countries; none is more interesting to a philosophic soul than the London newspaper contest for the ten most popular men in England. Consider the kind of men who attain great popularity.

Of the six leading candidates for honors, Lloyd George comes first, with Premier Baldwin second. Next is Steve Donoghue, the jockey who rode Bayrun to victory in the British Derby and to defeat in America. The fourth and fifth are professional cricket players whose names would mean nothing to an American reader. The sixth is Jimmy Wilde, a boxer.

Here, then, we find that of the six most popular men in England, two represent politics and four represent sport.

The only real wonder, when you think it over, is that the sport heroes are not in the lead, considering the part sport plays in British life. Perhaps they would be, if Donoghue had won the American race, and if England happened to have, for the moment, a champion prize-fighter.

It isn't necessary to sneer at England about it, either. How would such a contest turn out in America in an honest vote of all classes?

Is there any relation between popularity and greatness?

Louisiana An Advertiser

Stockton Independent

One more state is joining the ranks of those that have already expected to reveal themselves to the nation. The latest recruit is Louisiana. A state chamber of commerce is being formed in response to a speech recently made urging its citizens to know their own state and then venture forth with a world-wide message telling of its resources, climatic advantages and other attractions.

Proud citizens of Louisiana announce that their state no longer represents marsh, swamp, crocodile and alligators, as it ever did. Its farm acreage, mineral wealth and lumber resources, as well as its sections of natural beauty, are all deserving of the attention of capitalists and of paradise-seeking tourists.

Louisiana wishes also to call attention to its splendid work of reforestation and gently reminds other commonwealths that it was the first of the lumber states to establish a definite, constructive reforestation policy.

State advertising continues to spread, and whether it expects to pay or not, the average reader is invariably interested. The 48 states of the union are beginning to show their individuality and grow up to charming and self-respecting statehood, conscious not only of their political identities but of their beauties and treasures. And with increased knowledge of the different states, every citizen feels a greater thrill of true patriotism for the union that comprises them all.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

PAIN IN THE CHEST

You feel a sudden sharp pain in the side, and as you take a long breath the pain increases. If it be near the heart you jump to the conclusion that something is wrong with the heart.

Perhaps you have heard that if you feel pain on the side with each breath, that it meant pleurisy. Now what is likely the matter?

Of course there are twenty different things that might cause the pain, from actual pleurisy and heart disease, to cancer or tuberculosis, nevertheless in the majority of cases it is a very simple ailment. You see you are not sick and have no temperature, so the trouble can't be serious.

The most frequent cause of pain is just a little inflammation in the muscle due to cold or some light infection from intestine or elsewhere. Physicians have been hurriedly called to cases of supposed heart disease or pleurisy, only to find this simple muscular pain, which is often called muscular rheumatism.

I'm not trying to make light of it as far as the pain is concerned, because it is very often severe, but there is absolutely no danger whatever.

Some people have only to sit in a draught to develop this pain. A man will often get out on the road to fix a tire. There is the natural heat of the exercise, and as he drives away he attempts to make up a little time. This sudden cooling of the body after violent effort will bring on the pain. And the treatment?

The old family treatment of hot water bags, mustard plasters, and other forms of heat is really the simplest and most effective.

Where there is any slight infection in the body from teeth, tonsils, or intestines, the removal of the cause is your first consideration. So when you get the pain in the side, try and take a day or two off and get heat and massage to the part.

Sometimes where one is careless and allows the pain to continue without getting after it, the attacks will last some time and become more frequent.

Remember, it is not serious, but it can be very painful and cause much inconvenience.

The Fun Is About To Begin

A Plea For Tolerance

San Francisco Journal

Most people you meet will be quite unlike you in their composition.

They will view the world from an entirely different angle. Members of each race have different inheritances, different working brains.

The Occidental mind has trouble in understanding the workings of the Oriental mind.

The difference between the minds of the Briton and the Celt have made trouble for more than 700 years.

When intolerance gets into religion the war of prejudices plays havoc.

But we shall not deal with that in this article.

Today we want to point out the folly of intolerance arising from differing personal characteristics.

The educated man, forgetting that his uneducated neighbor has lacked his opportunities, reasons that the man must be an ignoramus because he doubles his negatives and interlards his speech with vulgar expressions.

The uneducated man puts the educated man down as a snob and a highbrow because he uses "big words" and talks about things the uneducated man cannot understand.

Yet the educated man, if he has a really good mind, can find plenty of merit and often a very high type of brain in his uneducated neighbor, and can manage to get a great deal of pleasure out of his society.

There is no place where intolerance is so pronounced as in school, where children who feel before they learn to reason are prone to ostracize all children who do not think and talk exactly as they do.

It should be the business of all teachers to correct this prejudice, and to show each group of children the good that lies in the other groups, and by forcing them into association lay the foundation for future tolerance.

Worth While Verse

AWAKE! AWAKE!

Awake! Awake! The stars are pale, the east is russet gray; They fade, behold the phantoms fade, that keep the gates of day; Throw wide the burning valves, and let the golden streets be free. The morning watch is past—the watch of evening shall not be.

Put off, put off your mail, ye kings, and beat your brands to dust. A surer grasp your hands must know, your hearts a better trust; Nay, bend aback the lance's point, and break the helmet bar—A noise is on the morning winds, but not the noise of war!

For aye, the time of wrath is past, and near the time of rest, And honor binds the brow of man, and faithfulness his breast, Behold, the time of wrath is past, and righteousness shall be, And the Wolf is dead in Arcady and the Dragon in the sea! —John Ruskin.

"Above all, girls," he said earnestly, "try by all means available, to cultivate a hobby!" —Argonaut.

Your Income Tax

By the Bureau of Internal Revenue

INCOME TAX IN NUTSHELL

WHO? Single persons who had net income of $1,000 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more, and married couples who had net income of $2,000 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more must file returns.

WHEN? The filing period is from January 1 to March 15, 1924.

WHERE? Collector of Internal revenue for the district in which the person lives or has his principal place of business.

HOW? Instructions on Form 1040A and Form 1040; also the law and regulations.

WHAT? Four per cent normal tax on the first $4,000 of net income in excess of the personal exemption and credits for dependents. Eight per cent normal tax on balance of net income. Surplus from 1 per cent to 50 per cent on net incomes over $6,000 for the year 1923.

ARTICLE NO. 7

In the income-tax returns of married couples must be included the income from their earnings of dependent children. The parents are allowed, however, a credit of $400 for each such child under eighteen years of age.

For example, John Smith, an artisan, had a net income for 1923 of $2,000, his wife earned $1,500 as a clerk, and two sons, 15 and 17 years of age, earned $600 each as messengers. From the total family income of $4,700 the parents are allowed to deduct a personal exemption of $2,500 plus a $400 credit for each son, leaving a taxable net income for $1,400. If husband and wife file separate returns, the one furnishing the chief support may claim the credit for dependents.

Frequently a minor is "emancipated," or released from parental power. In such event a return is required of a minor (or his guardian) if the minor's net income was $1,000 or more, or $2,000 or more, according to his marital status, or if his gross income was $5,000 or more.

Emancipation does not necessarily involve a breaking of family ties, nor need it be evidenced by a formal act. It may be expressed or implied, general or limited, in writing or oral. When a son supports himself and pays his board at home, there is an implied emancipation also if a child is in business for himself and the parents exercise no control over his earnings. In the absence of proof to the contrary it is assumed that a parent has a legal right to the earnings of a minor child.

World's Greatest Irrigation Structure

News from India that the world's greatest barrage is to be laid down in the Indus valley does not mean that a new world war is in progress with an inferno of bursting shells, but that Great Britain's engineers are going about the peaceful business of taming a great river and adding millions of acres to the earth's tillable area.

What a barrage is, and how this latest of great reclamation projects compares with the leading irrigation works of the United States and the rest of the world, is told in the following bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society:

"Unlike the famous Assuan dam across the Nile and such well known American structures as the Elephant Butte, Roosevelt and Pathfinder dams, the heart of the Indus irrigation system is to be a barrage, not a dam. Both barrages and dams work toward the same ends; to help get river water on the land; but they go about it in somewhat different ways.

MERELY RAISES WATER

The barrage is a low dam, over or through which the water continues to flow. Its function is to raise and keep the water at a certain height so that part of it will run off into canals on the river banks. The remainder goes tumbling over the barrage and on down the river bed. The barrage is, in a word, a colossal elder brother to the diversion weirs that turn water from main canals into minor channels.

The dam, on the other hand, is primarily a storage structure that creates a great reservoir in which the entire river flow for much of the year is held captive until the dry season when it is needed in the valleys below. Then the stored water is let out through sluices.

FEW BARRAGES IN U. S.

"The physical geography of the United States is such that practically all its irrigation development has been based on the use of dam made reservoirs rather than on barrages. Only one big barrage is a part of the many irrigation systems developed by the United States reclamation service, the so called Laguna dam across the Colorado river, a few miles above Yuma, Arizona.

This structure merely makes a sort of a huge permanent wave in the Colorado, but it is sufficient to divert hundreds of thousands of gallons of water into great canals which flow off along both the Arizona and the California shores.

"The Indus barrage, which will be built near Sukkur in the Sind, will be the greatest barrage in the world, both in length—which will be almost a mile—and in the amount of water diverted. Seven canals flow out on the level created by the new structure and will furnish water estimated to be enough to irrigate six million acres of land now barren. This is a region greater than the entire area of Massachusetts.

U. S. TAKES HONORS IN DAMS

"Two of the canals on the right bank of the river will be wider than the Suez canal, and one of the waterways on the left bank will be nearly half as broad again. The remaining channels will be narrower, but will carry mighty streams themselves.

"Among existing irrigation structures, the Assuan dam across the Nile is often pointed to as the greatest. In point of length it probably is, since it is one and one quarter miles from abutment to abutment. Its 146 feet of height, however, is overtopped by at least five American irrigation dams.

Arrowrock, Idaho, 345 feet. Shoshone, Wyoming, 323; Elephant Butte, New Mexico, 308; Roosevelt, Arizona, 280, and Pathfinder, Wyoming, 215. In the matter of the amount of water impounded, world honors among artificial reservoirs should probably go to the Elephant Butte dam, across the Rio Grande river in New Mexico.

Such measurements are best made in the number of acres the water would cover on foot deep. The capacity of the Elephant Butte reservoir is more than 350 thousand acre feet greater than that created by the Assuan dam."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 17—THE MISSING BALLOONS

Nancy and Nick and Tom Tinker hurried down Broom street past Wheelbarrow lane on down past Jack's new house and the Pienman's shop, and pretty soon they were in the place where, you might say, into a sort of big field.

And honestly, it did seem as though the whole world was there to see the circus come in. Certainly nearly everybody in Daddy Gander Land, except the mothers who were trying to get the housework done up so everybody could go to the performance in the afternoon. And, oh, yes, the daddies who were busy working to make enough money to send their families to the performance in the afternoon.

Great golden wagons with marvelous pictures painted on the sides went rumptly, rumptly, thump, thump! over the bumpy places, teams of black and white horses were being unhitched and led away to be fed, tenor and stands were being set up and side-shows with pictures that would take your breath away almost, were getting fixed up. The sword-swallower and the fat lady and living skeleton and tattooed man were to be in them.

And above all was the delightful terrifying roar of the lions, and the sorts of sounds you could hear, but not see—I mean see, what they were coming from. But the elephants were right out in plain view.

Nobody could hide them, or the camels, or the last yard and a half of the giraffes, which stuck up and out of their cages like church steeple. Really it was almost as good as being inside the big tent, and there was so much to see it was no wonder that the three children forgot about the lost Tweedles, Dum and Dee, for a minute or two.

Indeed it was quite by accident that they remembered. It was this way. A balloonman took Nick and Tom by the shoulders. "Say, there, you two. Where did you put my two bunches of balloons? Have you lost them or sold out?"

"Lost!" Their errand popped into their heads at the word, and the thought of poor Misses Tweedle at home worrying.

"Why, you're not the two little boys I gave my balloons to, to hold for me!" exclaimed the balloonman in surprise. "I beg your pardon. I wonder where those two little fellows went? One had on a red stocking-leg cap and the other had on a blue stocking-leg cap. Did you see them?"

"Well, well, well!" said the balloonman. "I gave each of them a big bunch of balloons and I'll have to have them back pretty soon. What do you say if we all go and hunt? Come along! They can't be far away!"
